GOVERNOR TO RESIGN THURSDAY

News in Brief

Persian Oil Rig Wrecked

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP)—Oilmen disclosed today a storm has wrecked a $1½ million offshore drilling rig, left 20 Arab workers dead and dealt a crippling blow to a four-year hunt for oil under the Persian Gulf.

The disaster struck a 1,200-ton steel floating tower of the Shell Oil Co., last Thursday night in the shallow waters of the gulf that separates the rich oil fields of Iran and Saudi Arabia.

A spokesman for Shell, which had invested more than $25 million in the maritime search, said: "Although the platform is still standing, it is doubtful whether it can be salvaged. An examination is being made by experts from abroad."

Oilmen expressed belief it would take two years to get steel for a new platform and that this might influence the company to abandon offshore drilling in this area—part of a complex of oil-rich desert lands that is a base for one of the largest group of American technicians living outside the U. S.

TOKYO (AP)—More than 170,000 people streamed through the open gates of the imperial palace today to shout "Happy New Year" to Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako, who came out on a balcony nine times to return the greetings.

CAIRO (AP)—The government-backed newspaper Al Gumhuriya said today talks will begin soon on the unification of Egypt and Syria. Arab nationalists in Egypt, Syria and Jordan have long talked about a federation of the three countries, all bordering Israel.

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Eight persons were killed and 10 injured when a loaded passenger bus overturned near Temuca, southern Chile.

SHIMONOSEKI, Japan (AP)—A Japanese fishing ship captured by a South Korean gunboat returned to Japan today after escaping from Pusan while its guards were sleeping off a New Year's Eve drunk.

BONN, Germany (AP)—The West German opposition leader, Erich Ollenhauer, will go to the United States next month to confer with American leaders. Ollenhauer, chairman of the strong Socialist party, would become chancellor of West Germany if his Socialists win the September general election.

PARIS (AP)—The price of gasoline, already boosted to the equivalent of 86 cents a gallon for high test, rose again at French pumps today. The rise was a third of a cent a gallon. But this time the Suez Canal blockage was not to blame. The government arranged the increase to help finance loans for farmers.

First Shipment Of Refugees Here

CAMP KILMER, N. J. (AP)—The first shipment of Hungarian refugees to reach America's shores swelled the population of this resettlement center to 6,291.

And another six planes were to land more of their countrymen at nearby McGuire Air Force Base today as Operation Safe Haven neared its end.

The military transport Gen. LeRoy Eltinge docked at Brooklyn Tuesday with 1,747 Hungarian men, women and children aboard. The vessel is the first of three ships due to bring some 5,500 Hungarian refugees to the United States from Germany.

Refugee Stream Shows Increase

VIENNA (AP)—Austrian police today reported that the stream of refugees from Hungary is increasing hourly, compared with the rate in recent days.

Police said only 75 Hungarians came across during the night but that from 7 a. m. to 10 a. m. more than 250 refugees arrived.

Authorities had expected an increase in the number of refugees after the holidays, which many Hungarians wanted to spend at home before making the break for freedom.

NEW USE FOR OLD TREES—Discarded Christmas trees, collected this morning by 35 Washington High School Hi-Y Club members in half a dozen trucks, are piled by this group near the city garage. Saturday the trees will be reloaded and taken to nearby farms, where they will be laid along fences to provide cover for birds and small game animals. Dave Krupla, Fayette County game protector, said Wednesday that the boys were collecting more than enough trees for the game refuges he had lined up and added that any farmer who wants some for his fence rows could call him and he would ask that they be taken there. Quintuplet Girls in India Reported OK

MADRAS, India (AP)—Police cordoned off the hospital in Pondicherry today to keep back curious crowds thronging to see India's first quintuplets.

The quint, all girls, were born to a 29-year-old Indian servant woman living near Tiruvannamalai, 50 miles from Pondicherry. Mrs. Muralee Corneille, 40, a nurse at the hospital said the quint was the first in recorded Indian maternity history. They arrived in quick succession early on the day before New Year's.

They weighed, in order, 3 pounds, 8 ounces; 3 pounds, 12 ounces and 3 pounds, 5 ounces. Weights of the other two were not given. They will be named on the 10th day, according to Hindu custom.

The Tamil-speaking mother, who earned about $2 a month as a servant, wept as she said that her husband, 35, is unemployed and that she already has three other daughters to bring up.

Doctors reported today that the quint, like their mother, are "doing fine."

Her husband said: "It is the will of God. What can we do?"

760,600 Korean Vets in Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—A record total of 760,600 veterans with service during the Korean fighting enrolled this fall for education and training under the GI bill, the Veterans Administration reports.

The agency said the total compares with 707,000 enrolled in the fall of 1955, and 735,000 last spring. Of the total, a record 473,000 veterans were enrolled in colleges.

About one out of every four males attending schools of higher learning last fall was a Korean vet.

Steel, U. S. Basic Industry, Seen Setting Output Record

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's steel mills will set a production record during 1957 as much as 3 million tons better than the 117 million-ton mark established in 1955, the Iron Age, national metalworking weekly, said today.

Most major steel-consuming industries expect another banner year, the magazine said after conducting a survey of users. Most expect to do as well, or better, than in 1956, when production was estimated at 115 million tons, Iron Age said. The decline from 1955 was largely attributed to last summer's 34-day steel strike.

Demand for steel will be complicated by the Suez situation, the magazine said, resulting in all-out construction of oil tankers, record drilling in the oil fields and higher

Weekend Traffic Toll Ties Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic deaths for the New Year weekend tied the record for the holiday.

Delayed reports for the New Year period that began at 6 p. m. Friday and ended Tuesday midnight raised the toll to 407 deaths in traffic. There also were 71 deaths in fires and 109 in accidents of other kinds for an over-all total of 587.

The weekend traffic toll was far below the 706 deaths on the nation's highways during the Christmas holiday period, which was a record for any holiday.

It compared with the New Year holiday record of 407 set in 1952-1953.

The combined total for the two holidays set a new high, with more than 1,100 traffic deaths. The old record was 973 set in 1955-56.

The National Safety Council, which last week had predicted 490 traffic deaths, low red its figure during the holiday.

"THE DRIVERS and the traffic enforcement officers deserve a big vote of thanks for teaming up to hold down the toll," Ned H. Dearborn, council president, said in Chicago.

The council said major factors in the lower traffic toll during the New Year period compared with Christmas included less travel, better weather conditions and tougher law enforcement. It also said the heavy Christmas toll had a "sobering" effect and the problem of New Year drinking is recognized by both drinkers and drivers and, to a great degree, they govern themselves accordingly.

Four states—Nebraska, Nevada, Utah and Vermont—reported no traffic fatalities during the New Year holiday period.

States reporting most deaths were California, Texas, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Illinois, each with 20 or more.

The new year with its proverbial new lease on life never came for 23 Ohioans. They were victims of traffic, fire, electrocution, drowning and shooting during the long holiday weekend just ended.

Five lived to see the new year come in, but were not alive at the close of its first day. The rest died sometime between 6 p. m. Friday night and the start of New Year's Day.

The Associated Press compilation of deaths from traffic, fire and miscellaneous fatal occurrences between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight ending New Year's Day, indicated Ohio was seventh among the states in fatalities.

For Ohio, the reported traffic death rate was 45 per cent of the Christmas holiday weekend rate. Of the 23 New Year's weekend fatalities, 18 were the result of traffic accidents. Over the Christmas holidays, more than twice as many deaths—40—were the result of traffic.

OK Seen Coming For Refugee Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said today he expects the new Congress to pass legislation permitting more Hungarian refugees to enter the United States.

Some other congressional leaders indicate a similar view Tuesday after a White House briefing on foreign affairs.

Knowland, who was at the meeting, did not want at this time to predict what for the legislation would take.

Britain, Poland Sign Agreement

BERLIN (AP)—Britain and Communist Poland have signed a three-year trade agreement in Warsaw, the official East German news agency ADN said today.

ADN reported the agreement will turn Britain into Poland's most important Western trading partner.

Brown To Be 'Lame Duck' Chief Executive

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche said today he will resign effective at noon Thursday and will take his oath as U. S. Senator when Congress convenes. But he refused to say whether he will vote with Republicans on Senate organization.

"I will be in Washington for the opening session and will take the oath in accordance with the convenience of the Senate," Lausche said this afternoon.

The action means that Ohio will have a "lame duck" governor, John W. Brown, for 12 days—until about noon Monday, Jan. 14, when Gov.-elect C. William O'Neill is sworn in.

Asked whether he would carry out a hint that he might vote with Republicans in organizing the Senate, Democratic Senator - Elect Lausche said only:

"I will vote."

The governor added that he did not know whether he would have an opportunity to attend a Senate caucus.

LAUSCHE announced his decision at the governor's mansion after a conference with Republican Lt. Gov. Brown.

Brown said he would be sworn in as governor to succeed Lausche at noon Thursday in the governor's Statehouse office.

Prior to today's announcement, Lausche had held mum on news stories that he would resign before the day O'Neill takes office.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer stated flatly today that the resignation was in the works.

"It added that Lausche would 'participate in the organization of the Senate.' But it did not predict whether Lausche would 'jump the political' fence."

Lausche said: "I have decided that Lt. Gov. Brown will fill this post capably and felt that I ought to be present at the opening of the Senate session to represent the state of Ohio in conformity with the wishes of the voters at the election."

Brown said he will "attempt to fulfill the office of governor to the best of my ability."

"I anticipate no changes in the state government," Brown added.

Brown said he will make no changes among Lausche's cabinet members who head major state department while Lausche is serving as governor.

THE LIEUTENANT governor said he and Mrs. Brown would move into the mansion in Columbus during his period as governor.

Lausche's furniture already has gone to Washington where he and Mrs. Lausche will live at 4000 Massachusetts Ave. NW. Mrs. Lausche and some members of the senator-elect's staff already are in Washington.

Lausche said he talked with Brown in a general way about the governorship and showed him around the mansion. He added that they talked about "some specific things—about problems confronting the state." He did not elaborate.

"I concluded," Lausche added, "that in the 12 days remaining in the administration there are no matters of such gravity requiring my attention that could not be handled by the lieutenant governor."

Asked about persistent speculation that he has been under pressure to become senator when Congress convenes, Lausche said:

"I have not spoken with anybody in Washington either directly or indirectly. What committee assignments I will get I do not know. Nothing has been requested. 'Nobody, either in the Republican or Democratic parties, has spoken to me about what course I ought to follow. If anybody had tried to speak to me, I would have vigorously rebuffed them. I shall determine what course will be followed.'"

BROWN SAID that, in his opinion, he would become a full governor although the Ohio constitution does not specifically say so. The constitution said the powers and duties of the governor shall go to the lieutenant governor in the absence of the governor.

Powers of the governor permit him to pardon or reprieve convicts in addition to making appointments.

The chairman of O'Neill's inauguration committee said in a prepared statement that Lausche would present the governor's commission to O'Neill when he is sworn in on Jan. 14.

MINORITY LEADERS CONFER WITH IKE ON POLICY — Minority leaders of Congress arrive at the White House to confer with President Eisenhower on upcoming legislation and the new Middle East policy called the "Eisenhower Doctrine." Left: Rep. Joseph Martin; and Senator William Knowland, of California and Rep. Leslie Arends of Illinois, minority whip.

Party Caucuses Setting Up Organization of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democrats and Republicans called party huddles today to work out preliminary plans for the formal opening at noon Thursday of the 85th Congress.

The separate caucuses were expected to approve retention of the same leaders and elective officials who served in the last Congress.

With Democrats in control, this means that Sam Rayburn of Texas, who already has served as speaker of the House longer than anyone else in history, will retain the top post for another two-year term.

John W. McCormack of Massachusetts and Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts will continue as Democratic and Republican floor leaders, respectively, with Carl Albert of Oklahoma, Democrat, and Leslie Arends of Illinois, Republican, remaining as party whips.

Senate party meetings will be held Thursday with no leadership changes in prospect but with two vacancies to be filled.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana is slated to replace E. Rie C. Clements of Kentucky as Democratic whip. Clements was defeated for re-election. Sen. Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.) is in line to become president pro tem of the senate, succeeding Walter George of Georgia, who did not seek re-election.

Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and

William F. Knowland of California will continue as Democratic and Republican Senate leaders, respectively.

The House caucus choices will be formally elected when the House convenes Thursday at the call of its clerk, Ralph Roberts.

While awaiting committee assignment recommendations, Congress will mark time and receive President Eisenhower's legislative proposals. The chief executive's major message on the State of the Union will be delivered in person Jan. 10.

The threat of a possible intra-party row in the House dissolved with the statement of Rayburn that the Democratic caucus would not try to deny committee representation to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.). Powell openly supported President Eisenhower for reelection, and some Democrats have sought to strip him of his major committee posts.

Congressional leaders expect no surprise legislative requests from Eisenhower. He already has outlined his program to them at White House conferences.

Gruenther Takes Red Cross Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alfred M. Gruenther, former NATO supreme commander, took over today as president of the American Red Cross.

He was inducted into office at a ceremony at the organization's headquarters here. He succeeds Ellsworth Bunker, who is retiring to become ambassador to India.

Gruenther, a four-star general, has retired from active duty.

Newsprint Mill Planning $4 a Ton Boost in Prices

TORONTO (AP)—Abitibi Power and Paper Co., Ltd. today announced a general increase of $4 a ton in the price of newsprint effective March 1.

A company spokesman said a letter dated Dec. 31 has been sent to all Abitibi publisher-customers advising them of the increase.

(Abitibi furnishes this newspaper with all of the newsprint it uses.)

The price rise, he said, is due to increased costs, including higher freight costs.

The letter was posted to all

ing categories:
General obligation bonds of $24,000, retireable in the next four years from proceeds of .35 mill levy voted three years ago. The money will be available for retirement of the bonds in the next two years.

An indebtedness of $69,100 to be retired in 1964 from assessments against property owners benefiting from improvements. The city's portion of these improvements already has been paid.

Mortgage revenue bonds totaling $36,000 will be retired from sewage rental charges by 1961.

City General Fund Balance Is $13,657 as Year Ends

The City of Washington C. H. began a new year yesterday in excellent financial condition and with bright prospects for a prosperous 1957.

Despite the fact that city employees except the city manager, have received their third straight annual wage increase, the balance in the city's general fund at the close of the year's business was $13,657.26, a tidy sum in view of mounting deficits in many communities.

The city's indebtedness as the new year begins is in the following categories:

General obligation bonds of $24,000, retireable in the next four years from proceeds of .35 mill levy voted three years ago. The money will be available for retirement of the bonds in the next two years.

An indebtedness of $69,100 to be retired in 1964 from assessments against property owners benefiting from improvements. The city's portion of these improvements already has been paid.

Weekend Traffic Toll Ties Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic deaths for the New Year weekend tied the record for the holiday.

Delayed reports for the New Year period that began at 6 p. m. Friday and ended Tuesday midnight raised the toll to 407 deaths in traffic. There also were 71 deaths in fires and 109 in accidents of other kinds for an over-all total of 587.

The weekend traffic toll was far below the 706 deaths on the nation's highways during the Christmas holiday period, which was a record for any holiday.

It compared with the New Year holiday record of 407 set in 1952-1953.

The combined total for the two holidays set a new high, with more than 1,100 traffic deaths. The old record was 973 set in 1955-56.

William F. Knowland of California will continue as Democratic and Republican Senate leaders, respectively.

The House caucus choices will be formally elected when the House convenes Thursday at the call of its clerk, Ralph Roberts.

While awaiting committee assignment recommendations, Congress will mark time and receive President Eisenhower's legislative proposals. The chief executive's major message on the State of the Union will be delivered in person Jan. 10.

The threat of a possible intra-party row in the House dissolved with the statement of Rayburn that the Democratic caucus would not try to deny committee representation to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.). Powell openly supported President Eisenhower for reelection, and some Democrats have sought to strip him of his major committee posts.

Congressional leaders expect no surprise legislative requests from Eisenhower. He already has outlined his program to them at White House conferences.

Hungarian Mills Resume Slowly

BUDAPEST (AP)—The official Hungarian news agency reported the nation's biggest industrial complex, the Csepel Island iron and steel works, resumed partial production today after a 10-day shutdown.

But radio Budapest said the continuing grave shortage of coal and power kept other large segments of Hungarian industry idle on the first work day of 1957.

Before the Oct. 23 revolt, more than 30,000 worked at the Csepel plant, but only 21,000 were reporting when production was shut down Dec. 23.

The MTI report did not say how many were back at work.

Pay Hike Planned

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—Wheeling Steel Corp. announced today that its hourly employees will receive a cost-of-living wage adjustment, amounting to an increase of three cents an hour, starting with the first day period of 1957.

Gruenther Takes Red Cross Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alfred M. Gruenther, former NATO supreme commander, took over today as president of the American Red Cross.

He was inducted into office at a ceremony at the organization's headquarters here. He succeeds Ellsworth Bunker, who is retiring to become ambassador to India.

Gruenther, a four-star general, has retired from active duty.

Newsprint Mill Planning $4 a Ton Boost in Prices

TORONTO (AP)—Abitibi Power and Paper Co., Ltd. today announced a general increase of $4 a ton in the price of newsprint effective March 1.

A company spokesman said a letter dated Dec. 31 has been sent to all Abitibi publisher-customers advising them of the increase.

(Abitibi furnishes this newsprint with all of the newsprint it uses.)

The price rise, he said, is due to increased costs, including higher freight costs.

The letter was posted to all

Abitibi's 250 regular newspaper customers in the United States and Canada. The increase would also affect smaller customers who make occasional purchases.

The last price increase came a year ago.

The spokesman said the price before the increase was $130 a ton delivered in New York and slightly lower in Canada. He declined to specify Canadian prices, saying they vary throughout the country according to freight rates.

A general rise of $4 a ton took effect at the start of 1956.

Abitibi produces about 800,000 tons of newsprint annually, which puts it at about the same level as Consolidated Paper Corp., as runner-up to Canadian International Paper Co. in production.

At the New York office of International Paper Sales Co., a spokesman said he had received no word of any impending increase by that company.

About 80 per cent of the newsprint consumed by U. S. newspapers comes from Canada.

The American Newspaper Publishers Assn. said recently it had received reports that a price boost was being considered by some companies.

At that time, William Dwight, president of ANPA and publisher of the Holyoke, Mass. Transcript-Telegram, declared, "publishers do not believe another newsprint price increase is justified."

City General Fund Balance Is $13,657 as Year Ends

The City of Washington C. H. began a new year yesterday in excellent financial condition and with bright prospects for a prosperous 1957.

Despite the fact that city employees except the city manager, have received their third straight annual wage increase, the balance in the city's general fund at the close of the year's business was $13,657.28, a tidy sum in view of mounting deficits in many communities.

The city's indebtedness as the new year begins is in the following categories:

General obligation bonds of $24,000, retireable in the next four years from proceeds of .35 mill levy voted three years ago. The money will be available for retirement of the bonds in the next two years.

An indebtedness of $69,100 to be retired in 1964 from assessments against property owners benefiting from improvements. The city's portion of these improvements already has been paid.

Mortgage revenue bonds totaling $36,000 will be retired from sewage rental charges by 1961.

New Year Holiday Here Quiet with Few Arrests

One of the quietest New Year holidays in a long time today has come to a close here and life was settling down to normal.

By and large, New Year's Eve celebrations were orderly and temperate, Police Chief Vaiden Long and Sheriff Orland Hays said, despite five arrests.

Sheriff Hays picked up one man for driving while intoxicated and police made three arrests for disorderly conduct after a fight at Sons Grill. Only one man was arrested by police for intoxication and he drew $5 and costs in Municipal Court the day after.

Sheriff Hays cited Osley Brown Collins, 58, Dayton, for driving while intoxicated following a collision at the intersection of routes 35 and 729 New Year's day of his car and one driven by Robert H. Hammond, 29, also of Dayton.

Collins was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to jail for 10 days, with seven suspended, and suspended from driving for a year when arraigned in Municipal Court Wednesday.

The sheriff reported another on Route 35. This one was at the intersection of Allen Rd. where a car driven by Frank Palmer (no address given) hit a 1941 Pontiac driven by Lena Riley Mossbarger, 75, Route 3. No one was hurt and no charges were filed.

ARRESTED by city police about 2 a. m. New Year's Day on charges of disorderly conduct signed by Jack Weiss, proprietor of Sons Grill, were Harold Penwell, 22, of 1112 Vine St.; Howard Penwell, 28, Athens, and Russell E. Dilley, 24, of 213 1/2 Bereman St.

In Municipal Court Wednesday, they all pleaded guilty and each was fined $10 and costs.

In the only other case to come before the court, Robert M. Williams, 40, Route 6, drew two $50 fines and costs, one for leaving the scene of an accident and the other for driving while his license was revoked. He was arrested by Sheriff Hays Dec. 23 following a collision on Route 70, south, between his car and one driven by Constantine A. Campbell, 17, of 901 E. Paint St.

There were a few accidents over the holiday weekend, but none of them was serious and no one was hurt.

Doris K. Bailey, 34, of 126 Grand Ave., was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way after her car had slid into the side of the Fire Department pumper at the North-Temple St. intersection at 1:15 p. m. Monday. The charge was filed by Ptl. Rodman Scott, who was following the pumper, driven by Capt. Charles F. Crone, in the police cruiser.

She pleaded not guilty when arraigned in Municipal Court Wednesday morning, but was found guilty and fined $5 and costs.

She told police she had started across North St. on Temple St. with the green traffic light when she saw the fire fighting equipment going north on North St. She said that when she heard the siren and saw the tank truck approaching, she applied the brakes but slid into the big truck, hitting it just back of the hood.

The front of her 1956 Chevrolet station wagon was smashed and the lower part of the truck cab was damaged.

The truck, however, continued on to the home of Perl Self, 235 Curtis St., where a bucket of water extinguished the blaze. The fire started over a stove.

The alarm had been sent in by Sheriff Orland Hays over the radio.

This was the first fire run made here since Dec. 19, to put out a blaze in a dog house back of the

White House Seeks Speed On Ike's Mid-East Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House speeded up its scheduled today to get action on President Eisenhower's call for standby authority to take swift retaliatory action against any Communist aggression in the Middle East.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen that White House and State Department liaison men are already at work with key legislators on plans for the President's formal message to Congress on the proposal.

A probable factor in the speed-up was the generally favorable response which the 29 senators and House members gave to the plan.

In a four-hour White House session the key Congress members gave most of their time to the proposal which the President said was "designed to deter Communist aggression in the Middle East area."

A White House statement said this would be linked with a request for "an enlarged program of economic aid to the nations in that area," to be administered under Eisenhower personally.

The general principles of this new peace-keeping doctrine got immediate backing from leaders of both parties, subject to a more detailed explanation Eisenhower will give Congress within the next five or six days.

Some conferees said Eisenhower may deliver the special message in person early next week, but the White House said no decision on this has been reached.

SPEAKER of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) believes the President's proposal, which conferences said involved standby presidential authority to order U. S. military forces into action, "will be a very fine thing if it can have proper explanation and practical unanimity in the Congress."

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House Appropriations Committee said, "The President's proposal seems to me the only sensible course for us to follow."

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate's Democratic leader, reserved judgment.

He said Eisenhower's request involved some "rather far-reaching proposals with grave and serious implications." But he promised speedy Senate consideration of them.

Sen. Wiley of Wisconsin, top Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he "didn't hear any opposition" when Eisenhower broached his plan to the assembled 13 senators and 16 House members.

But Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), who was not at the meeting, said Eisenhower has "quite a selling job to do," and added he wants to know more details.

Aimed at filling the power vacuum left by waning British and French influence in the potentially explosive Middle East, the new Eisenhower doctrine was reviewed at a session designed to give Democrats as well as Republicans an intimate look at the administration's plans for meeting foreign problems.

Courts

JUDGMENT AFFIRMED

The Court of Appeals has affirmed judgment of the lower court in the case of the Brooks Funeral Home, Columbus, against Waldene Hatcher, in which the plaintiff sought judgment in the sum of $402 in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court here May 26, 1953. The lower court had dismissed the plaintiff's amended petition and assessed the costs against the plaintiff.

The appeals court held that the plaintiff's brief was not adequate or properly filed, with the result that facts had not been brought to the court of appeals on questions of law by the mere recitation in the brief.

In conclusion the appeals court decision states:

"Whether or not any error intervened to the prejudice of the plaintiff may not be determined, because it is not exemplified nor assigned in the brief."

Judgment in the amount of $2,527.61 has been taken by The First National Bank of New Holland, against Clarence Waddell, of Millledgeville, on a note for $2,465.96, executed June 14, 1956, by the defendant, and payable after five months. The note was secured by a chattel mortgage.

Other area hospitals receiving cash gifts from the Dunnick organization include Clinton Memorial Hospital, Berger Hospital at Circleville, Highlands Community Hospital at Hillsboro, Chillicothe Hospital, Greenfield Memorial, and Greene Memorial at Xenia.

Police Probing Two Burglaries

Police today are investigating two break-ins, one at a service station that has been closed for about a month and the other at a private residence.

Entrance to the Lucas and Lang Sinclair station at Oakland and Dayton Aves. was gained Sunday night by breaking a window. The chewing gum machine had been broken open, but nothing else was found disturbed.

Mrs. Ray Benson, 668 Rawlings St., reported that someone had entered her home Thursday afternoon and taken $15 or $20 and a package of cigarettes.

The powerful icebreaker Northwind powered to the side of the stricken ship and today, both ships were trapped in the grinding ice pack, struggling to fight free.

Rock 'n Roll Music May Be Blessing!

CHICAGO (AP) — Rock 'n' roll music provides millions of teenagers with a means of expressing their inner urges, says an executive of American Music Conference.

John W. Fulton believes the rock 'n' roll craze may turn out to be a blessing for the younger set by directing the tensions of growing up into harmless channels.

"Remember the 'Charleston' and the 'Lindy Hop' and the 'Black Bottom'?" he asked. "They were crazes of other days and 99 per cent of the kids who went crazy over this music and the crooners have turned out to be good citizens."

Rock 'n Roll Music May Be Blessing!

CHICAGO (AP)—Rock 'n roll music provides millions of teenagers with a means of expressing their inner urges, says an executive of American Music Conference.

John W. Fulton believes the rock 'n roll craze may turn out to be a blessing for the younger set by directing the tensions of growing up into harmless channels.

"Remember the 'Charleston' and the 'Lindy Hop' and the 'Black Bottom' " he asked. "They were crazes of other days and 99 per cent of the kids who went crazy over this music and the crooners have turned out to be good citizens."

Bird in Hand

SAN JOSE, Ill. (AP)—Mrs. Leonard Nelson just smiled when her husband and son-in-law, Kenneth Ragsdale, returned empty-handed after a pheasant hunt.

While she and her daughter, Mardelle, were watching TV, a pheasant crashed through the living room window.

British-Controlled Hong Kong Is World's Bargain Basement

By NORMAN SKLAREWITZ
HONG KONG—Like the British who control it, this Crown Colony always has been quiet and rather reserved. Although it's been a major port and center of commerce since 1841, the outside world heard little of it.

Within the past few years, though, Hong Kong suddenly has become almost as familiar to traveling Americans as Paris and London. Reason is that the colony is the last city on the vast Chinese mainland open to holders of U. S. passports.

Today airlines and steamships plying their way between the Orient and Europe stop here. What is more, it is an official liberty port for the U. S. Seventh Fleet that guards the vital Formosa straits.

The result is that the colony has come alive dramatically to the Westerner and turned almost overnight into a fabulous resort center.

IN ADDITION to its sub-tropical climate and breathtaking island scenery, the colony also is a shopping center that beats almost anything anywhere.

Years ago, England declared it to be free port, that is there is, with only minor exceptions, no taxes, duties or tariffs on goods brought in from outside countries.

Discovery of this fact by tourists turned Hong Kong into a gigantic bargain basement almost overnight. The best merchandise from the world's markets can be found here at prices that can't be matched.

American visitors these days have their choice of such prize items as Italian typewriters, German sewing machines, English cars, Scotch cashmeres, Siamese jewelry and Indian ivory. Often these items can be bought cheaper here than they can in their country of origin — thanks to the no-tax policy of the British.

PRICES on Chinese and other foreign labor in the colony make custom-made goods the rule rather than the exception. A woman can order a pair of quality alligator shoes with matching bag for about $35 — about one-third of what the same outfit would cost in a smart New York shop.

A man's tailor-made suit, of imported English wools, costs $50. Australian cow hides are combined with local labor to produce luggage. A man's two-suit here costs about $15.

There's more to Hong Kong than its shopping, though. The colony actually is a series of islands and an area on the Chinese mainland.

THE MAIN ISLAND is Hong Kong and here the capital city of Victoria is situated. The downtown portion of the town looks like a slice of England. Tall stone banks and commercial buildings line the busy, well-paved streets.

On the slopes of "The Peak," the 1,809-foot hill that dominates the island, are lovely homes of British businessmen, government officials and wealthy Chinese.

Below on the narrow back streets, though, and in the city of Kowloon on the mainland opposite Victoria, live almost 2,000,000 Chinese. Many hundreds of thousands of these are refugees from communism which swept over their country 10 years ago.

Sgt. Robert Hill and the missus go shopping for luggage in the U. S. Navy's Hong Kong Display Room.

They live in almost unbelievable poverty. They are jammed together in dirty, sordid flats in tenement-like buildings. Many live right in the streets, cooking their meager meals of rice and fish on open fires in the gutter.

THOUSANDS more spend their lives aboard tiny sampans in the harbor near the sparkling Hong Kong Yacht Club or in the fishing village of Aberdeen on the island's outer side.

It is a strange combination of rich and poor, the East and the West at their respective worst and best.

Behind the glittering shops with their tempting bargains is another Hong Kong, that of teeming millions who present a problem of staggering dimensions to the British administrators of this isolated outpost.

New Chemical Test Seen Uncovering Hidden Disease

NEW YORK (AP)—A brand new kind of chemical test may come for early detection of hidden diseases—perhaps even some forms of cancer.

It would make simple chemical checks of your blood or other body fluids. It would be an enzyme or "E" test.

This kind of detective work is already being used to help tell how badly a heart was damaged by a heart attack. And it has helped spot a serious liver disease—infectious hepatitis—four to weeks before there were any other signs of the disease.

Eventually it might lead to a blood or body-fluid test for very early detection of cancers, and might even tell where the cancer was located.

The latest research and potentialities of enzyme detection were described today to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science by Dr. Felix Wroblewski of the Sloan-Kettering Institute, New York.

Enzymes are chemicals vital for the healthy functioning of the body cells. There are many kinds.

Diseases affecting body organs may release extra amounts of certain enzymes, which then appear in the blood or other fluids, Dr. Wroblewski explained.

Heart disease increases the amount of several different enzymes in the blood. This fact is being used to help diagnose the severity of the attack.

Liver diseases put varying ratios of certain enzymes into the blood, with the amounts varying according to how severe the disease is he continued.

By measuring enzyme levels, it is possible to detect infectious hepatitis long before there is any other clue, he said.

Eventually the enzyme test might detect cancer before it becomes malignant and begins spreading. That would give the best chance of cure.

Thompson New Mayor of Bloomington

Council President Appointed To Fill Vacant Position

BLOOMINGBURG—Richard Thompson is to receive the oath of office today as the new mayor of this Fayette County village.

Thompson, who has been serving as president of the Village Council, was appointed by that body to succeed Glenn Davis Sr. who has resigned, effective Dec. 31, because he is moving to a farm near Kings-ton. The new mayor will serve through 1957, since Davis, reelected in November of 1955, would have had another year in office.

Thompson, a carpenter and builder, has been a member of the Bloomington Council for more than four years. A new Council member and a new Council president will be named next Monday night.

Present Council members are Jack Sollars, Henry Walker, Harry Craig, Lewis Parrett and Harold Winfield. Other members of the village administration are Robert Hughes, clerk; Miss Ruth Jones, treasurer; Victor Hart Sr., marshal, and Charles Cunningham, chief of the Bloomington - Paint-Marion volunteer fire department.

Man Is Accused In Fatal Attack

CINCINNATI (AP)—A jobless watchman was held Tuesday night by police who said he admitted attacking Mrs. Eva Dattile with a beer bottle.

No charges were immediately filed against Earl Gill, 60.

Investigators said he admitted striking the woman with a beer bottle after she started slapping at him with a butcher knife in her apartment Saturday night.

But officers said Gill told them he had no recollection of what happened after that. He said the fight came after an extensive drinking bout.

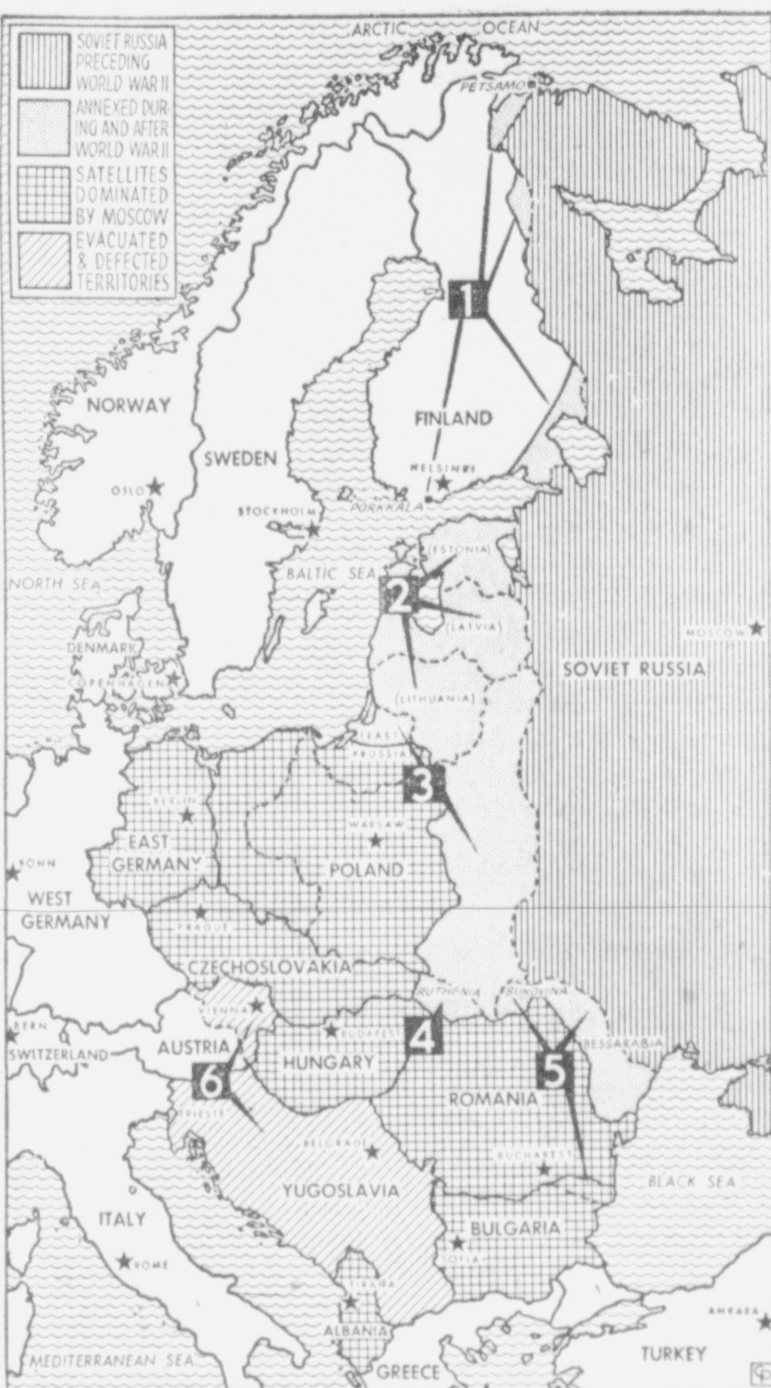

Farmer Products Show Price Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture department says prices of farm products increased 1.26 per cent between mid-November and mid-December.

This put the price level about 6.6 per cent above that of a year earlier. It was about 24.6 per cent below the record high reached in February 1951.

Prices paid by farmers in mid-December were unchanged from a month earlier. They were about 3.5 per cent above the level of a year earlier and one-third of 1 per cent below the record high set in May 1952.

The first United States citizen to win the Nobel Prize in literature was Sinclair Lewis in 1930.

SINCE World War II the Russian bear's claws have extended over a broad range of territory, as shown on this map. With the arrival of the New Year, however, the free world is watching for fresh signs of unrest in the Soviet satellites. Poland is attempting to cling to some independence, although Hungary's fight for liberty has been quelled. Russian expansion started when she stripped Finland of the ice-free port of Petsamo (1) and followed up by leasing the naval base of Porkkala, near Helsinki, which was later relinquished. Next, (2) the Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania were annexed. During the war the northern part of East Prussia (3) as well as two-fifths of Poland fell to Russia. In return, the Poles received a slice of Germany. Ruthenia, the eastern end of Czechoslovakia (4), was annexed to give the Reds a 50-mile common border with Hungary. Romania ceded Bukovina and Bessarabia (5) to Russia along with a small segment in the southeast to Bulgaria. In 1948, Yugoslavia bolted from Moscow (6) and in 1955 the Austrian state treaty, assuring national sovereignty, was signed.

Boys' Choir Plans Second Public Appearance at Easter

The next public appearance of the Fayette County Boys' Choir, which delighted a large audience with a presentation of Christmas carols during the evensong service at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church Sunday night, probably will be during the Easter season, Mrs. Robert E. Willis, director of the group, announced today.

The choir, organized in October and composed of boys and young men between the ages of 9 and 22 from all parts of Fayette County, plans to build up its repertoire in preparation for additional concerts before the summer vacation season.

Thirty-eight of the 42 choir members took part in evensong service, with David Foster, Bloom-

To Hold Fox Drive In Staunton Area

Sponsored by the WSCS of the Staunton Methodist Church, a fox drive will be held in the Staunton community Saturday, starting at 9 a. m. at the school building in the village.

Shot guns are the only firearms permitted. Dogs are barred as well as rifles, it is announced.

Eugene Cockerill, J. O. Wilson

and Kenneth Bush are in charge of the drive.

The women will serve lunch at the school house at the noon hour, serving bean soup, corn bread and sandwiches and accepting a free will offering for the food.

Cable Slashings Claimed Repeated

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—After a week's lull in strike violence, three telephone cable slashings have been reported here by police.

The slashings occurred New Year's Eve in the sixth month of a strike by the Communications Workers of America against Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. The union has consistently denied responsibility for strike violence.

New Money Bag Screams at Thief

LONDON (AP)—A British inventor says he has come up with a money bag that screams for two hours if it gets in the wrong hands. It also cuts loose with a stream of tear gas after waiting for two minutes.

Harry Adler, 64, the inventor, said trained messenger can control the bag by means of secret catches.

"But once out of his hands," he added, "the slightest movement sets off the alarm."

The next public appearance of the Fayette County Boys' Choir, which delighted a large audience with a presentation of Christmas carols during the evensong service at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church Sunday night, probably will be during the Easter season. Mrs. Robert E. Willis, director of the group, announced today.

The choir, organized in October and composed of boys and young men between the ages of 9 and 22 from all parts of Fayette County, plans to build up its repertoire in preparation for additional concerts before the summer vacation season.

Thirty-eight of the 42 choir members took part in evensong service, with David Foster, Bloom-

To Hold Fox Drive In Staunton Area

Sponsored by the WSCS of the Staunton Methodist Church, a fox drive will be held in the Staunton community Saturday, starting at 9 a. m. at the school building in the village.

Shot guns are the only firearms permitted. Dogs are barred as well as rifles, it is announced. Eugene Cockerill, J. O. Wils on and Kenneth Bush are in charge of the drive.

The women will serve lunch at the school house at the noon hour, serving bean soup, corn bread and sandwiches and accepting a free will offering for the food.

Cable Slashings Claimed Repeated

PORTSMOUTH (AP) — After a week's lull in strike violence, three telephone cable slashings have been reported here by police.

The slashings occurred New Year's Eve in the sixth month of a strike by the Communications Workers of America against Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. The union has consistently denied responsibility for strike violence.

New Money Bag Screams at Thief

LONDON (AP) — A British inventor says he has come up with a money bag that screams for two hours if it gets in the wrong hands. It also cuts loose with a stream of tear gas after wailing for two minutes.

Harry Adler, 64, the inventor, said trained messenger can control the bag by means of secret catches.

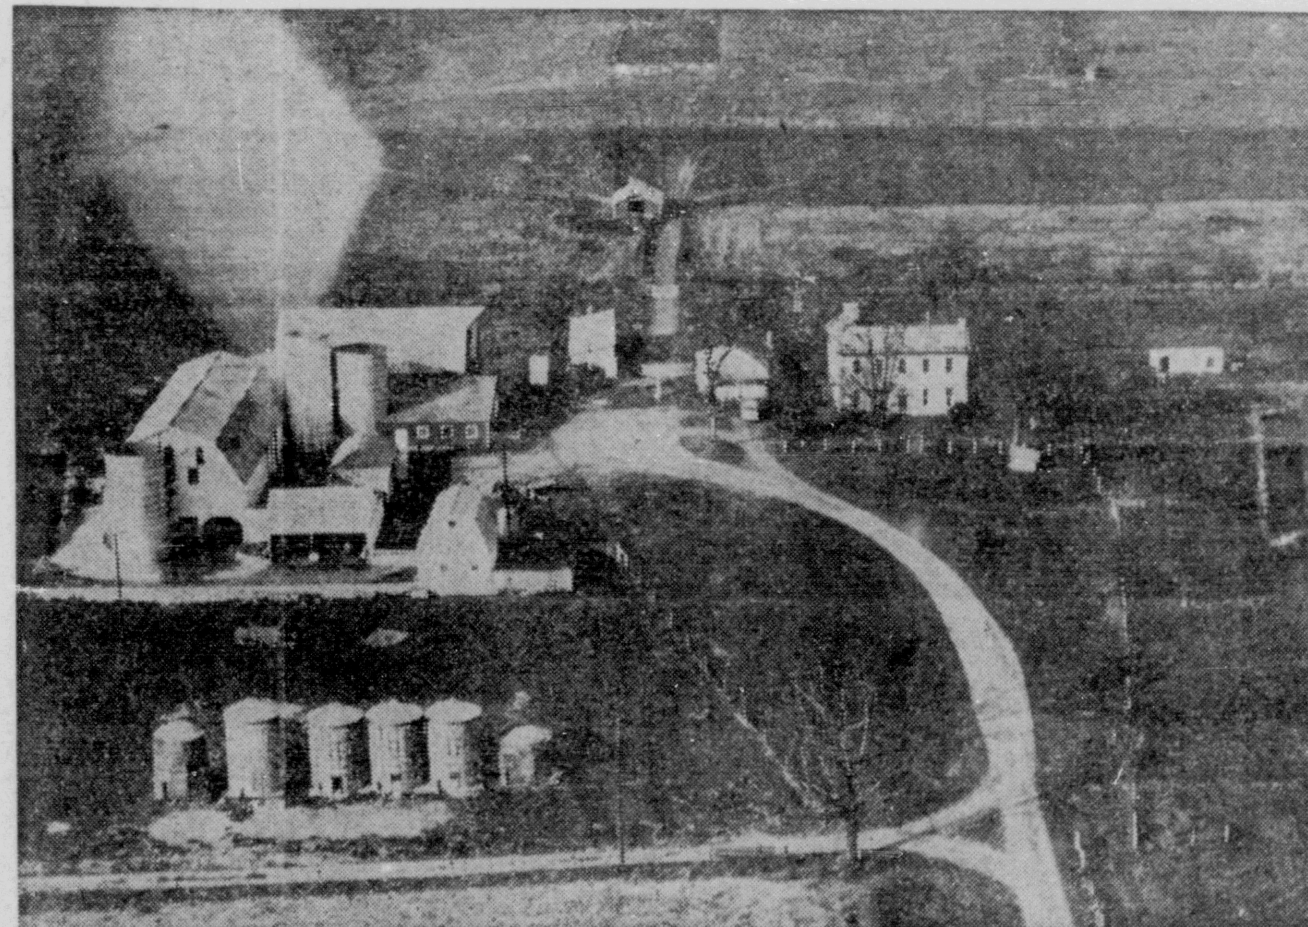

"But once out of his hands," he added, "the slightest movement sets off the alarm."

Our Future, Our Brains and Our Muscles

One of the top officials of Armco, which has a valuable and busy plant in Washington C. H., among its factories and offices over this country and abroad, has written something that seems to ring forth clearly the truth about our human considerations for the future.

The writer is C. H. Murray, vice president in charge of personal and public relations, who in the big company's recent magazine under the title of "Using Your Head" emphasizes the importance of people and that from their brains, rather than their muscles, come the ideas which the world needs and which have brought forth the great advances in the field of industry in our own nation.

The article says in part:
"Not so long ago, we Americans had a curious habit of calling a man a 'hand.' If employed on a farm, he was a 'farm hand'; if in a factory, he was a 'factory hand.' To employ a man on a job was to 'hire a new hand.' Those were the days when muscle power was needed to do much of the work, and a man's hands were mighty important equipment for his job.

"Not so today. The emphasis is on a man's mental equipment instead of on his hands. Our brains count more on our jobs. The reason is that American industry is seeking newer methods, better ways to produce its products, new and better things to make. This requires new, fresh, original ideas. Those ideas can come from only one source — from the minds of men.

"Machinery can't create new ideas. Stories about the 'wonderful', the 'marvelous', the 'super - human' electronic machines used in industry, often give an exaggerated idea of their importance. At various times in the past, the same claims for superiority were made for steam engines, for Diesel motors, for electric motors, when these were first put into use. Over the years, each development of mechanical progress out-performed the one that preceded it. You can be sure that today's wonder - machines will soon become as out-of-date as buggy whips.

"But there is one genuine marvel; the most important, the most efficient, the greatest of them all — the human brain. Your brain, my brain, most human brains. We're discovering new things about it every day. It weighs but three pounds, yet it has more than ten billion parts. And the more we find out about it, the more valuable it becomes, if we will but give it a chance.

"For example, scientists not long ago studied the possibility of duplicating a human brain, using electronic equipment. They sought to make a mechanical brain that could do the same things a human brain might do. What was the result? They discovered that if they used radio tubes and wires and mechanical parts, it would require a machine as tall as Rockefeller Center in New York, and as large in area as the Cow Palace in San Francisco. It would take the power of Niagara Falls to run it, and Niagara's rushing waters to keep it from overheating. And even then, one three - pound brain (like yours or mine) could still do things the machine couldn't do. It is clear that our progress still depends upon that marvel of marvels that each of us carries around inside his head."

Mr. Murray then proceeds to point out one outstanding reason for Armco's great success, a reason which should interest every employe and everyone who does business with that company, when he says:

"At Armco, we have always put our faith in the intelligence of Armco men. Our company has no 'brain trust,' no particular individual or group or department that is supposed to do all the thinking and create all the new ideas. Quite the opposite. We ask—in fact, we invite—every Armco man on the payroll to use his intelligence to help improve his company and his job. We have a Suggestion Plan, where Armco people can share in the cash value of the improvements they suggest. Our supervisors have a Methods Improvement program, where their ideas are put to work for the betterment of all jobs. In hundreds of training courses, at many Armco plants, men are given the opportunity to study, to learn, to add to their mental skills.

"It seems quite certain that in most places, the rewards of the future will go in much larger measure to strong minds rather than strong muscles. Human intelligence can solve problems of safety, of production, of improvement. When we apply our mental abilities to our jobs, we create greater security for ourselves and our company. The fresh ideas of people, not the dull clank of machines, will determine our future. It's a great time for those who are willing to use their heads!"

You Could Have Enjoyed It

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—To most of America's 169 million people the greatest Cinderella second of the year is that tremulous moment at midnight on New Year's Eve.

We hope, however, the striking clock then this year did not signal the death of old dreams but heralded the advent of a bright tomorrow when new and better dreams will come true.

But the problem is less how to enjoy New Year's Eve than to survive it. In retrospect, here are a few tips on how to get the most enjoyment mileage out of any New Year's Eve with the least possible regret:

1. Remember, first of all, that we create most of our sorrows by pressing too hard for impossible joys.
2. Don't mix drinks of grape and grain and distilled apples and potatoes.
3. Remember that, although it is a time of teeter-totter—one year dying, another year being born, you should retain the detachment of a midwife: Whatever happens, she keeps on living.
4. Don't mix drinks of grape and grain and distilled apples.
5. If you plan to leave your own home, check your insurance policies and see that they are all paid up.
6. Don't mix drinks of grape and grain.
7. If you are having a party in your own home, do these things:
A. Don't serve any guest an alcoholic beverage until he has first drunk a 12-ounce glass of cold water or milk to remove any real thirst.
B. If you have a midnight nightcap, immediately announce you are going to entertain the remaining guests with card tricks. This will sober up any crowd and send them home early.
C. Prohibit political discussions and dispense martinis only to guests who are accompanied by a muscular and firm-minded teetotaler.
D. Insist at 12:01 a.m. that everyone eat a plate of scrambled eggs and bacon and a cup of hot soup, tea or coffee. If any refuse, call the police and say they're disturbing your peace.
8. Don't mix drinks.
9. If you go to someone else's party, leave your car at home. Take a cab.
10. Don't mix anything—drinks or people—if you know or suspect this is one of the times you shouldn't.
11. If you plan to go to an early morning New Year's Day religious service, walk to the nearest church. If a guy who has to fumble for his car keys insists on taking you or your family anywhere tonight—or his own wife and kids—pour castor oil in his drink, let the a's out of his tires, or call the cops.
12. It is always better to make a scene than to become a bloody mess. Many of the holiday accident victims are wives, children or friends of a bottle-ambushed man of good will who is steering a wheel when he can't steer himself. They die or are crippled because they are social cowards who lack the courage to say "no" when they should.
13. Don't—even if you have to miss a New Year's Eve celebration—miss the adventure of being around to see all that will happen in the "potential heaven of '57."
14. Remember, if you are in doubt don't.
15. Don't anyway!

Where Is U. S. Heading?

By George Sokolsky

The build-up for the Tito visit has been accelerated by the Nehru visit. The assumption is that a neutralist grouping may be substituted for the alliance with Western Europe represented by NATO which is an American invention whose first manager was Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The difficulty with the over-brilliant concepts of a re-organized world which seem to be so prevalent in Washington is that two can play at most games and that if NATO is to wither away, there is no reason why the Western European powers, who collectively still amount to more, except in population and fecundity, than all the neutrals put together, should not find their own road to an arrangement with Soviet Russia.

The Western Europeans are, of course, astonished that just when

Soviet Russia seems to be at its weakest as a universal state, the United States should remove its pressures and even give the impression that it prefers the neutralists, Nehru and Tito to its old allies, Great Britain and France.

Whether such removal of pressure be due to pique or policy, it gives the Western Europeans the strong feeling of "the last man out is it" sort of thing and they are adjusting to the necessities of the situation which may involve them in astonishing readjustments.

Nehru saw Chou En-Lai before he came to the United States; Chou En-Lai then waited for Nehru's return to find out what he said to Nehru and Nehru said to him. Then Chou En-Lai will go to Moscow to speak to whoever is running the show there. Meanwhile Chou spits venom at the United States.

This moving around is not difficult to understand. Nehru's very important business with Eisenhower was, as an honest broker, to arrange for Red China's admission to the United Nations. Chou wants to hear from Nehru's own lips how the business went in America. No use reading press notices; they are for the moment and for home consumption. Then when Chou knows, he will pass it on to Khrushchev and Molotov and Shepilov and policy will be manufactured. It will not take too many months to evaluate what has happened, even what has been said, from the course of events.

The danger to the United States is that this country will be completely isolated by its own policies and will then set upon a new course of buying friends out of the taxpayers' earnings. This process has already cost the American taxpayer 100 billion dollars after we had spent more than three times that amount in war.

How much we can afford to spend is anyone's guess, but obviously there comes an end to profligacy and then a nation finds itself with depreciated currency and a lowering standard of living. Twenty years of world leadership may turn out to be a very expensive luxury for the American people. And it could be fruitless even if the United Nations survives because the essence of the national policy of any country must be self-preservation.

This is the problem that the United States faces and no matter what grandiloquent phrases are employed to overland it, the problem persists in its original form. After 20 years, and huge expenditures, this country is where it was when Roosevelt

Scientists Seek Way To Check Fatal Shock

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

There's a screeching of tires and a terrific impact. Two autos have collided and both are badly damaged.

You run toward the wreck expecting to find all the occupants of both cars dead or dying. But they aren't. Many of them have survived the accident because they have been conditioned to resist a state of severe shock.

Right now this is an imaginary incident. It is not something which can occur today or even tomorrow. But it might be a glimpse into the not-too-distant and Churchill sat on a man-of-war in the Atlantic and discussed the future of the human race.

Soviet Russia is in much the same quandary. Having amassed an enormous empire, Stalin died and his successors are not of his calibre and they cannot hold together by speeches and vodka what he put together by force and blood. For Soviet Russia the only realistic solution is war and its by-product, radioactive strontium. If Soviet Russia were to attempt to live without war, it would cease to be a universal state and only be Russia, and perhaps even a smaller Russia than Czar Nicholas II governed.

The peril to the world is that those who govern Russia may decide to risk the H-bomb and radioactive strontium but what the Russians fear also is that the victory may go to their allies in Asia, the Red Chinese and the cowardly Hindus. The latter sit pacifically like vultures waiting neutrally to pick what there is left to pick when friend or foe fails.

It is thus that the New Year starts.

(Copyright 1957 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

future, for scientists are seeking to determine whether humans can be rendered shock-resistant. And there's hope that they can. Laboratory tests have made rats so shock-resistant that only 25 percent of them succumbed to injuries which normally would have been fatal to 75 percent.

Two Methods

Army scientists used two methods to fortify rats against injuries that otherwise would prove fatal.

In one series of tests, the rats developed resistance by inflicting a series of small, non-fatal injuries. In other experiments, they were given a series of electric shocks, one each day for several days. This series, similar to shocks used in electroshock therapy for psychiatric cases, also produced resistance to injury.

When either a human or an animal suffers an injury or is faced with a "fight or flight" situation (we've talked about this many times before) some dramatic changes automatically take place in nervous system activity.

Apparent Key

Activity of the sympathetic nerves—here's the apparent key to the whole thing—causes changes in heart function, blood pressure and the flow of blood to various organs. In addition, the hormones adrenalin and noradrenalin are released into the blood.

In the case of shock, there is a prolonged high level of the sympathetic nervous system which might hasten death. In animals, drugs have been used to tone down this action and help them to withstand shock.

Previous Conditioning

Experiments show that rats release less adrenalin and noradrenalin when confronted with stress if they have first been conditioned by a series of electric shocks or slight injuries. This certainly seems to indicate a less violent reaction in their sympathetic nervous systems.

Scientists aren't ready to experiment with humans yet, but we may be well on the way to combating fatal shock.

NEW YORK (AP)—To most of America's 169 million people the greatest Cinderella second of the year is that tremulous moment at midnight on New Year's Eve.

We hope, however, the striking clock then this year did not signal the death of old dreams but heralded the advent of a bright tomorrow when new and better dreams will come true.

But the problem is less how to enjoy New Year's Eve than to survive it. In retrospect, here are a few tips on how to get the most enjoyment mileage out of any New Year's Eve with the least possible regret:

1. Remember, first of all, that we create most of our sorrows by pressing too hard for impossible joys.
2. Don't mix drinks of grape and grain and distilled apples and potatoes.
3. Remember that, although it is a time of teeter-totter—one year dying, another year being born, you should retain the detachment of a midwife: Whatever happens, she keeps on living.
4. Don't mix drinks of grape and grain and distilled apples.
5. If you plan to leave your own home, check your insurance policies and see that they are all paid up.
6. Don't mix drinks of grape and grain.
7. If you are having a party in your own home, do these things: A. Don't serve any guest an alcoholic beverage until he has first drunk a 12-ounce glass of cold water or milk to remove any real thirst. B. If you have a midnight nightcap, immediately announce you are going to entertain the remaining guests with card tricks. This will sober up any crowd and send them home early.
8. Prohibit political discussions and dispense martinis only to guests who are accompanied by a muscular and firm-minded teetotaler.
9. Insist at 12:01 a.m. that everyone eat a plate of scrambled eggs and bacon and a cup of hot soup, tea or coffee. If any refuse, call the police and say they're disturbing your peace.
10. Don't mix drinks.
11. If you go to someone else's party, leave your car at home. Take a cab.
12. Don't mix anything—drinks or people—if you know or suspect this is one of the times you shouldn't.
13. If you plan to go to an early morning New Year's Day religious service, walk to the nearest church. If a guy who has to fumble for his car keys insists on taking you or your family anywhere tonight—or his own wife and kids—pour castor oil in his drink, let the cops' out of his tires, or call the cops.
14. It is always better to make a scene than to become a bloody mess. Many of the holiday accident victims are wives, children or friends of a bottle-ambushed man of good will who is steering a wheel when he can't steer himself. They die or are crippled because they are social cowards who lack the courage to say "no" when they should.
15. Don't—even if you have to miss a New Year's Eve celebration—miss the adventure of being around to see all that will happen in the "potential heaven of '57."
16. Remember, if you are in doubt don't.
17. Don't anyway!

Where Is U. S. Heading?

By George Sokolsky

The build-up for the Tito visit has been accelerated by the Nehru visit. The assumption is that a neutralist grouping may be substituted for the alliance with Western Europe represented by NATO which is an American invention whose first manager was Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The difficulty with the over-brilliant concepts of a re-organized world which seem to be so prevalent in Washington is that two can play at most games and that if NATO is to wither away, there is no reason why the Western European powers, who collectively still amount to more, except in population and fecundity, than all the neutrals put together, should not find their own road to an arrangement with Soviet Russia.

The Western Europeans are, of course, astonished that just when

Soviet Russia seems to be at its weakest as a universal state, the United States should remove its pressures and even give the impression that it prefers the neutrals, Nehru and Tito to its old allies, Great Britain and France.

Whether such removal of pressure be due to pique or policy, it gives the Western Europeans the strong feeling of "the last man out is it" sort of thing and they are adjusting to the necessities of the situation which may involve them in astonishing ready adjustments.

Nehru saw Chou En-Lai before he came to the United States; Chou En-Lai then waited for Nehru's return to find out what Ike said to Nehru and Nehru said to Ike. Then Chou En-Lai will go to Moscow to speak to whoever is running the show there. Meanwhile Chou spits venom at the United States.

This moving around is not difficult to understand. Nehru's very important business with Eisenhower was, as an honest broker, to arrange for Red China's admission to the United Nations. Chou wants to hear from Nehru's own lips how the business went in America. No use reading press notices; they are for the moment and for home consumption. Then when Chou knows, he will pass it on to Khrushchev and Molotov and Shepilov and policy will be manufactured. It will not take too many months to evaluate what has happened, even what has been said, from the course of events.

The danger to the United States is that this country will be completely isolated by its own policies and will then set upon a new course of buying friends out of the taxpayers' earnings. This process has a ready cost the American taxpayer 100 billion dollars after we had spent more than three times that amount in war.

How much we can afford to spend is anyone's guess, but obviously there comes an end to profligacy and then a nation finds itself with depreciated currency and a lowering standard of living. Twenty years of world leadership may turn out to be a very expensive luxury for the American people. And it could be fruitless even if the United Nations survives because the essence of the national policy of any country must be self-preservation.

This is the problem that the United States faces and no matter what grandiloquent phrases are employed to overland it, the problem persists in its original form. After 20 years, and huge expenditures, this country is where it was when Roosevelt

By 1965 the gas and electric appliances in your home will be doing the work of 90 human servants.

Right now—while many of these "wonders" are still in the laboratory—DP&L is building to meet the increased demand for gas and electricity. We know that we will have to build as many new facilities in the next ten years as we did in the last 40.

We can't produce electricity now and store it for future use . . . nor can we enlarge our gas distribution system overnight. So we are building now. The supply of vital electric energy and natural gas is ahead of the demand now. We are determined to always keep it ahead.

When you hear about the breathtaking "wonders" of tomorrow you may be confident that DP&L has already made plans to provide the energy for those marvelous new servants.

Make Mine Vanilla, Says Uncle Sam

By GROVER BRINKMAN
IT'S A FAR CRY from the tropical jungles of the huge island of Madagascar to the typical American phrase, "Make mine vanilla!" Last year Americans said that, to the tune of 400 million gallons of vanilla ice cream—and it all started out as an orchid from a Madagascar jungle.

In fact, half of all the ice cream consumed in the United States last year was vanilla.

Bakers, homemakers and chefs reach for it more often than any other sweet flavoring. Yet, ask the average American to clearly define vanilla, and he begins to stutter. It is one of the most mysterious flavoring agents we have.

The bottle of pure vanilla in the kitchen shelf started out as an orchid. The chances are four to one that it began life in the jungles of Madagascar, the huge island that lies off the east coast of Africa—or, possibly, it came from Mexico. These two areas supply the bulk of the vanilla beans that are imported to this country.

IF SOMEONE pollinates it (ordinary birds and bees are no help) the vanilla orchid produces a fruit, which is called a vanilla bean. From the bean, the flavor is extracted.

So unique is this flavor of an orchid that the modern chemical world has yet to discover what makes it tick. For centuries, scientists have explored it, but there still is no complete definition of vanilla flavor.

Vanilla has been an object of many mysteries. For more than 300 years after its discovery by the Spanish Conquistadore Hernando Cortez, it remained impossible to bring it to fruit outside its native Mexico.

Test after test failed until finally a Belgian scientist, Charles Morren, found the answer. It seemed that there was only one insect in the world that could pollinate the vanilla orchid, such was its strange structure. The creature was a tiny bee which lived only in the vanilla district of Mexico.

EVENTUALLY, a practical process of artificial pollination was developed and vanilla was introduced to Madagascar, where it has reached its greatest heights of production.

When harvested the vanilla bean is green and has no flavor. The flavor is developed in a long and tedious curing process, which may take as long as six months.

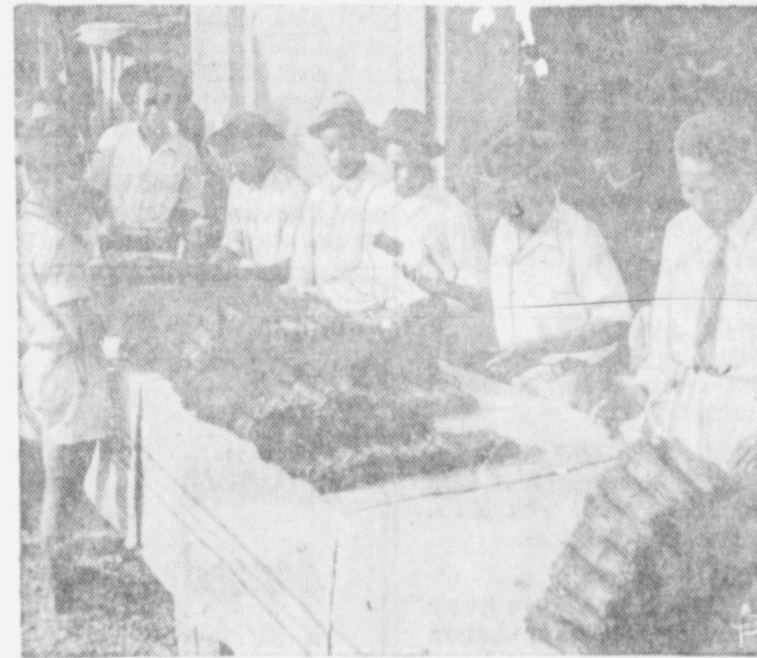

First the beans are sun-dried and then stored inside dark sheds. They shrink to the size of a pencil and turn deep brown in color. That is the way we buy them in today's specialty food shops and delicatessens.

The bean itself can be used in cooking, and is regarded highly by gourmets. They either chop it up and steep a piece in hot milk, or store the bean in a canister of sugar, until the sugar itself takes on a vanilla flavor.

BY FAR the commonest form of real vanilla found in America today, however, is pure vanilla extract. It is so labelled by law to distinguish it from the many imitation vanillas that have been developed. The pure extract is a simple extraction of vanilla flavor suspended in alcohol.

Most American cooks approach vanilla with the attitude of an ice cream manufacturer: when they want a vanilla dessert, they take down the familiar bottle. Otherwise, it stays on the shelf.

Not so the French, to whom vanilla is almost a philosophy. They know and use it not only for its own flavor, but in companionship with many other flavors.

The kitchen artists of France took vanilla to their bosoms almost as soon as the Spaniard Cortez brought the new-found flavor back to Europe from Mexico, where he found it in the court of Montezuma, emperor of the Aztecs.

One of the biggest factors about vanilla (and one which is very little known still) is its use as a reducing agent. Just as it improves chocolate, vanilla also will enhance many other sweet flavors.

Vanilla in preserves, in stewed fruit and compotes, fruit pies and pastries, brings out the natural flavor.

Pranksters Curb 'Mad Bomber' Hunt

NEW YORK (AP)—Pranksters and crackpots continue to harass the police search for New York City's "mad bomber."

The number of bomb scares dwindled to about a dozen Tuesday. The variety of scares, however, matched that of any previous day.

Police said the perpetrators ranged from a 19-year-old who exploded a bomb firecracker in mid-Manhattan to the person who planted a fake bomb in a Times Square telephone booth with an attached note reading:

"Dear Marian: This is to start the New Year with a bang."

Police said Marian's admirer had left an unexploded 15-inch length of pipe with a wire running its length.

or—with only the addition of one-half the normal amount of sugar used. Housewives, please note!

Food experts have found that it is possible to cut the calorie count of a fresh fruit compote about 50 per cent merely by using vanilla. And once again, housewives please note!

There is a reason so many of us say, "Make mine vanilla." It's the diplomat of flavors.

Scientist Records Heavy Earthquake

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Don Tocher, University of California seismologist, reported Tuesday night that a series of severe earth shocks, apparently about 2,500 miles northwest of Berkeley had been registered Tuesday afternoon and evening on the university seismograph.

Tocher said the shocks ran up as high as 7.4 on the Richter Magnitude Scale and the directional indication was that they would have centered somewhere in the Aleutian Island chain extending west from southern Alaska.

The 7.5 Richter Magnitude was about that of the famous earthquake which resulted in the burning out of San Francisco in 1906 and was as heavy as anything recorded during the last year, Tocher said.

New Year Blast Shatters Shotgun

COLUMBUS (AP)—Rudolph Buoni, 24, started off the new year with a bang.

At the stroke of midnight on New Year's Eve, as a way of celebrating, he pointed his 12-gauge shotgun toward the sky and pulled the trigger.

There was a loud bang and the gun shattered into six pieces. Buoni, unhurt, was at a loss to explain the mishap.

Ike's New Mid-East Plans Still Considered Clouded

WASHINGTON (AP)—It still isn't clear whether President Eisenhower's new Middle East program is a program at all or merely a substitute for one.

It cannot be judged until after the President presents it in detail to Congress later this month.

For months the administration—except for its opposition to the British-French attack on Egypt—seems to have had no policy for coping with the growing unrest and deterioration in the Middle East.

The British and French were discredited by their Egyptian adventure. It has been claimed that unless the United States asserts some leadership the Middle East will be saturated by the influence of Russian communism.

Whether the program now being talked of by the administration is the answer—or just a gesture or a stopgap until it can think of something better—remains to be seen.

First news of the plan was leaked by the administration last week. This is one way to test both public and congressional reaction before the program is offered to Congress for approval.

It calls for two things:
1. Four hundred million dollars in aid for the Middle East, including both Arab nations and Israel during the next two years.

2. Approval by Congress beforehand—standby authority—for the President to use American armed forces if he deems it necessary, to stop Russian aggression in the Middle East.

That standby authority might serve to discourage the Russians from an armed attack in the area. It might also be a gesture without any practical meaning.

There's no indication the Russians have any intention of using armed force in the Middle East. The danger from communism in the area appears to be more from subversion than from invasion.

What would Eisenhower do with his standby authority if, for instance, instead of conquest of Syria by Russian attack, Syrian Communists took over by a revolt entirely within the country?

The idea of giving the Middle East 400 million dollars in aid certainly shows American interest in the area. But this, too, raises basic questions.

For instance, is the money to be shoveled out to any Arab nation which might want it—like President Nasser's Egypt—or will it be given only with some assurance it will bring cooperation with the West?

Aid alone is hardly a program unless there is fairly solid reason for believing it will stop Communist infiltration.

MISS CAROLYN JEAN GAULT

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Gault of near Milledgeville, are announcing the engagement of their only daughter, Carolyn Jean, to Mr. Donald Eugene Crabtree, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin W. Crabtree, Route 1, Jeffersonville.

Miss Gault will be a member of the 1957 graduating class of Jeffersonville High School.

Mr. Crabtree was a member of the 1955 graduating class of Jeffersonville High School and is presently affiliated with the Kroger Company in Xenia.

Plans for the wedding are indefinite.

Miss Montavon Is Bride Of December 24

Grace Methodist Church was setting Monday, December 24, for the wedding of Miss Genevieve Montavon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Montavon of near Greenfield, and Mr. Clare Whitmer, son of Mrs. Faith Whitmer, New Holland.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. L. J. Poe at seven o'clock in the evening, and attendants for the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Grove of Good Hope.

Only relatives and close friends of the bride and groom were present.

The new Mrs. Whitmer chose for

SATIN TOUCHES FOR A SLIM, FITTED SUIT of black ribbed worsted—from the collection designed by Beni Claire. Black silk satin is used for the turned-back cuffs, piping for the collar and jacket closing. A jeweled "watch" decorates one breast pocket. Smart for winter under a warm coat and later for spring.

Hotel Washington Owners Form Real Estate Firm

Blaine T. Sickles, attorney, filed incorporation papers Wednesday for a new Washington C. H. firm to be known as Washington Motel, Inc. The company is authorized to own and operate real estate.

Sickles said that purchase of property in the Washington C. H. area is being considered.

Sickles, an assistant attorney general of Ohio, his sister, Madelyn M. Fisher, and their mother, Mrs. Marjorie L. Sickles, all are associated in the ownership of Hotel Washington Inc. here.

Officers of the new company include: Sickles, president and general counsel; Marjorie L. Sickles, treasurer; and Madelyn M. Fisher, vice president and secretary.

HOTEL WASHINGTON was opened 20 years ago by the present owners when the property was purchased from the Midland Mutual Life Insurance Co. The hotel has become one of the better known hotels in Southern Ohio.

It is large for a city of this size, having 65 rooms with tub and shower, plus 10 furnished apartments.

A unique part of the hotel is the modern rooms paneled in more than 30 different Ohio woods, making it one of the finest exhibits of wood paneling in Ohio. The hotel's coffee shop is widely known to travelers.

Add leftover green peas to frozen condensed oyster stew for a delicious soup.

A dash of mustard is good to add to a cream sauce that is to be used with fish.

Engagement Is Announced

MISS CAROLYN JEAN GAULT

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Gault of near Milledgeville, are announcing the engagement of their only daughter, Carolyn Jean, to Mr. Donald Eugene Crabtree, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin W. Crabtree, Route 1, Jeffersonville.

Miss Gault will be a member of the 1957 graduating class of Jeffersonville High School.

Mr. Crabtree was a member of the 1955 graduating class of Jeffersonville High School and is presently affiliated with the Kroger Company in Xenia.

Plans for the wedding are indefinite.

Miss Montavon Is Bride Of December 24

Grace Methodist Church was setting Monday, December 24, for the wedding of Miss Genevieve Montavon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Montavon of near Greenfield, and Mr. Clare Whitmer, son of Mrs. Faith Whitmer, New Holland.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. L. J. Poe at seven o'clock in the evening, and attendants for the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Grove of Good Hope.

Only relatives and close friends of the bride and groom were present.

The new Mrs. Whitmer chose for

SATIN TOUCHES FOR A SLIM, FITTED SUIT of black ribbed worsted—from the collection designed by Beni Claire. Black silk satin is used for the turned-back cuffs, piping for the collar and jacket closing. A jeweled "watch" decorates one breast pocket. Smart for winter under a warm coat and later for spring.

Businessmen Line Up Their Special Weeks

About Every Product
Due for Big Push
In Promotion Drives

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—This is golden rule month as well as supper market month and Louisiana jambalaya season.
Merchants and manufacturers and farmers increasingly are taking to the various months and weeks and days that promote their products—and as a pleasant sideline bring dollars to the advertising departments of newspapers, magazines and radio and TV stations.

Before the year's over we'll celebrate national linen closet week and anti-freeze week.

Even before January is over we'll have odorless decoration week, take tea and see week, Idaho potato and onion week, national potato chip week, large (economy) size week, and national fur care week.

February will be apple for teacher month, cottage cheese-calling peach salad time, ice cream and cherries party, and good breakfast promotion month. In February national weight watchers week will be followed by national pimento week and national cherry week (ending on Washington's birthday—natch!).

Flavorful cheese dishes and national home improvement share the month of March. Its first week will be devoted to return of borrowed books as well as national peanut, save your vision and national smile weeks. Pancake day coincides with Mardi Gras and is followed by national rice, national tobacco distribution and national television servicemen's weeks.

April will be known as national hobby month, cereal and milk spring festival, and tentatively as national rug cleaning month.

Letter bedding time is for May, as is California fig festival, national foot health, and national tavern months. May opens with correct posture, be kind to animals, goodwill, national raisin and national motel weeks.

June is national dents out of fenders month. It is also American freshwater pearl, dairy, portable radio and national ragweed control month.

National hot dog month is July by calendar reckoning. The month is also dedicated to picnic promotion, refresh with milk, ice cream festival and national iced tea time.

August is national sandwich month and cherry, pie time and includes national denim week.

October is dedicated to cheese festival, cranberry time, let's go hunting, national mirror month, rice harvest festival and sweetest day promotion.

November will see butter-baked turkey time, gift cheese shoppers time, and ice cream and chocolate parade. After that week comes national cage bird week.

Holiday butter cookie days, holiday egg nog time and one-for-the-road safety program claim December as their own. And confirmed optimists have placed national pre-perity week in the final month of 1957.

Could be—after all those promotions.

The important British port of Hong Kong on the southeast coast of China is ten square miles in area and has both an east and west entrance.

"DEBUTANTE DRESS." Embossed rose brocade is used for this all-white silk evening dress, designed by Gothe. Ombre pink silk roses nestle at the back of a brief peplum. The skirt is full and pleated.

Rescue Unit Volunteers To Meet Thursday Night

Whether or not Fayette County will get a completely equipped Civil Defense rescue truck depends largely on the response at a meeting called for 7:30 p. m. Thursday on the second floor of Memorial Hall.
Any resident of the county interested in becoming a member of a CD rescue crew is invited to attend the meeting. At least 20 volunteers are needed before the 11th Mobile Defense Unit will provide the truck which would be based in Washington C. H.
Once such a crew is organized, a captain and team leaders will be named by state Civil Defense headquarters which will also uniform and outfit the personnel.

George Montgomery, CD chief of rescue, and C. Virgil Sexton, county Civil Defense director, are in charge of the project.

The rescue trucks provided to interested communities are equipped with floodlights, power saws, acetylene torches and an assortment of tools and first aid supplies to handle such disasters as tornadoes, collapsed buildings, fires and wrecks in which victims might be trapped in wreckage.

Prospective volunteers who may not be able to attend the meeting are urged to contact Sexton or Montgomery.

Curb Sought On President's Business Rule

WASHINGTON (AP)—By a 6-5 partisan vote, the House Small Business Committee has recommended that Congress restrict President Eisenhower's powers over federal regulatory agencies.

The committee's six Democrats recommended Monday that the President be stripped of his power to designate chairmen of the agencies, that members have some of the chairmen's powers, and that the agencies be given more freedom in preparing their budgets and legislative recommendations.
The agencies now must clear both budgets and legislative requests through the President's Budget Bureau before submitting them to Congress.

The recommendation dealt with the Federal Power, Trade and Communications Commissions, the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The President originally was given authority to designate the agency chairmen as a means of improving their administration, but the committee majority said that as a result "he was given great power over the operation of these agencies."

"The committee were created by and should be responsible to Congress, the Democrats said, but added "we have seen Presidential appointees of independent federal regulatory commissions and bodies misinforming and failing to inform Congress concerning what has occurred within their agencies."

1 dead, 2 Hurt In Crash South Of New Vienna

HILLSBORO —A 49-year-old Peoples man was fatally injured and two others were hurt in a three-car collision on Route 73, three miles south of New Vienna, at 7:10 p. m. New Year's Day.

Eustace Young died in the crash, and his wife, Anna, 45, is in Highlands Community Hospital here with a fractured hip and head injuries.

William Farenholz, Middletown, also was hospitalized.
State highway patrolmen said Farenholz, going north, attempted to pass a car driven by Charles Andrews, Wilmington, and struck the Young automobile head-on. Andrews' car was entangled in the general wreckage, but the driver was not hurt.

No Greater Love

CLARKSDALE, Miss. (AP)—Children in Oakhurst Elementary School here were making contributions to a drive for crippled children.

"I'm not going to give my three pennies to the crippled children," one little girl told Miss McCoy, the teacher. "I want you to have 'em because you're crippled."
Miss McCoy, on crutches after a fall, persuaded the youngster some small child was probably in greater need.

Businessmen
Line Up Their Special Weeks

About Every Product
Due for Big Push
In Promotion Drives

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—This is golden rule month as well as upper market month and Louisiana yam supper season.

Merchants and manufacturers and farmers increasingly are taking to the various months and weeks and days that promote their products—and as a pleasant sideline bring dollars to the advertising departments of newspapers, magazines and radio and TV stations.

Before the year's over we'll celebrate national linen closet week and anti-freeze week.

Even before January is over we'll have odorless decoration week, take tea and see week, Idaho potato and onion week, national potato chip week, large (economy) size week, and national fur care week.

February will be apple for teacher month, cottage cheese-celery salad time, ice cream and cherries party, and good breakfast promotion month. In February national weight watchers week will be followed by national pimento week and national cherry week (ending on Washington's birthday—natch!).

Flavorful cheese dishes and national home improvement share the month of March. Its first week will be devoted to return of borrowed books as well as national peanut, save your vision and national smile weeks. Pancake day coincides with Mardi Gras and is followed by national rice, national tobacco distribution and national television servicemen's weeks.

April will be known as national hobby month, cereal and milk spring festival, and tentatively as national rug cleaning month.

Better bedding time is for May, as is California fig festival, national foot health, and national tavern months. May opens with correct posture, be kind to animals, goodwill, national raisin and national motel weeks.

June is national dents out of fenders month. It is also American freshwater pearl, dairy, portable radio and national ragweed control month.

National hot dog month is July by calendar reckoning. The month is also dedicated to picnic promotion, refresh with milk, ice cream festival and national iced tea time.

August is national sandwich month and cherries, pie time and includes national denim week.

October is dedicated to cheese festival, cranberry time, let's go hunting, national mirror month, rice harvest festival and sweetest day promotion.

November will see butter-baked turkey time, gift cheese shoppers time, and ice cream and chocolate parade. After cat week comes national cage bird week.

Holiday butter cookie days, holiday egg nog time and one-for-the-road safety program claim December as their own. And confirmed optimists have placed national prosperity week in the final month of 1957.

Could be—after all those promotions.

Rescue Unit Volunteers
To Meet Thursday Night

Whether or not Fayette County will get a completely equipped Civil Defense rescue truck depends largely on the response at a meeting called for 7:30 p. m. Thursday on the second floor of Memorial Hall.

Any resident of the county interested in becoming a member of a CD rescue crew is invited to attend the meeting. At least 20 volunteers are needed before the 11th Mobile Defense Unit will provide the truck which would be based in Washington C. H.

Once such a crew is organized, a captain and team leaders will be named by state Civil Defense headquarters which will also uniform and outfit the personnel.

George Montgomery, CD chief of rescue, and C. Virgil Sexton, county Civil Defense director, are in charge of the project.

The rescue trucks provided to interested communities are equipped with floodlights, power saws, acetylene torches and an assortment of tools and first aid supplies to handle such disasters as tornadoes, collapsed buildings, fires and wrecks in which victims might be trapped in wreckage.

Prospective volunteers who may not be able to attend the meeting are urged to contact Sexton or Montgomery.

Troop 38 Girl Scouts
Hold Christmas Party

Girl Scouts of Troop 38 today were getting ready to back to school with memories of one of their best Christmas parties.

It was held in the Dayton Power & Light Co. auditorium with mothers as the special guests. Each girl gave her mother a gift she had made and then had a gift exchange of their own. Refreshments were served as the party came to a close.

1 dead, 2 Hurt
In Crash South
Of New Vienna

HILLSBORO —A 49-year-old Peebles man was fatally injured and two others were hurt in a three-car collision on Route 73, three miles south of New Vienna, at 7:10 p. m. New Year's Day.

Eustace Young died in the crash, and his wife, Anna, 45, is in Highlands Community Hospital here with a fractured hip and head injuries.

William Farenholz, Middletown, also was hospitalized.

State highway patrolmen said Farenholz, going north, attempted to pass a car driven by Charles Andrews, Wilmington, and struck the Young automobile head-on. Andrews' car was entangled in the general wreckage, but the driver was not hurt.

No Greater Love

CLARKSDALE, Miss. (AP)—Children in Oakhurst Elementary School here were making contributions to a drive for crippled children.

"I'm not going to give my three pennies to the crippled children," one little girl told Miss McCoy, the teacher. "I want you to have 'em because you're crippled."

Miss McCoy, on crutches after a fall, persuaded the youngster some small child was probably in greater need.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Why do women wish to have children? Let's pass over the ready notion that "a wife's instinctive desire is to reproduce her husband" — for this can't be the only reason. But is love of husband the ruling motive?

I suppose my instinct should give me the answer to the question, but it doesn't. And I wish I could find someone with whom to discuss this (would a marriage counselor be appropriate?)—but, as I can't think of a suitable confidante, I would appreciate your comment.

I can understand a man's motives for parenthood: If he is dissatisfied with his work situation, he may count on children to make his life seem more worthwhile. Or he may want children to "carry on the family name." And of course he doesn't have to bear the primary physical burden of caring for children.

I am not altogether a cynic. I realize that life contains joy and satisfaction as well as sorrow. But still it seems to me that everyone born undergoes so much unpleasantness and sorrow that it is decidedly better not to have offspring.

I believe there are many fine people in the world, whose lives are governed by unselfishness and high principles. And I remember, too, that God instructed the creatures who came out of the Ark to "Go forth and multiply." Yet, judging from comments I have heard, most parents are selfishly motivated.

I've heard women say they desire the special love that children give you. Or that they want children to take care of them in their old age. Or they think children are interesting and "cute."

Obviously I've missed something in life, for judging by the number of children born, there must be very good reasons for having them. And why the great demand for children to adopt, if they aren't much to be desired?

E. J.

DEAR E. J.: There are many things one might say in response to your inquiry. First, women who wish to bear children are in tune with universal life, truly accepting their biological function in the cosmic scheme of things. The urge to parenthood issues from Creation itself—from the power back of all things—hence has "reasons" that transcend mere human reckoning. Second, the gist of your preoccupation, as I see it, is a gnawing conviction that you neglected to "cash in" on a vital potential, now cancelled, when you failed to bear children in years when it might have been possible.

You don't specify whether you are a spinster or a married woman. But whichever you are, it is a safe guess that: (1) You are now either past, or nearing the end, of the child bearing age, (2) a sense of diminishing physical life in yourself stirs a haunting anxiety that you haven't developed adequately (much less fully) the life that's been given you.

Such a reaction to regret amounts to taking an escapist tack, as regards the pain of reality. The better attitude is: (1) Face "what is"—for example, the fact that one didn't have children: for reasons that seemed sufficient in the past, even if they don't quite satisfy now. (2) Try to discover, or establish, some on-going, profoundly significant relationship to the whole-of-life.

This is the only way to outgrow mistakes and losses, and be of good cheer in making best use of the here-and-now, without further waste of life. For help in seeing life whole, and getting your bearings for future years, you might read Frank Sheed's book "Society and Sanity" (Sheed & Ward).

Churches Pledging Aid to Refugees

CLEVELAND (AP) — Protestant church members here Tuesday pledged their support in helping newly arrived Hungarian refugees find homes and jobs. The pledge was given at a service for Hungarian refugee relief sponsored by the Cleveland Church Federation. The gathering was told by Dr. Stephen Szabo, pastor of First Hungarian Reformed Church, that the goal is to bring 5,000 refugees to Cleveland since the city has the largest Hungarian settlement in the United States.

Kansas City Gets 'Bomb' Warning

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Police evacuated 2,800 moviegoers from Loew's Midland Theater downtown Tuesday night after an anonymous telephone tipster warned a bomb had been planted there. Twenty detectives joined the staff in an hour's search but found no bomb.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration's State Department has been doing a selling job on what has been described as a new program for the Middle East, although only part of it could be considered basically new.

The department, headed by Secretary Dulles, has been getting headlines since Friday by a parcelling-out method: first "leaking" the story to one reporter and then calling in a selected group of newsmen for a private briefing.

This served a double purpose: preparing public and congressional opinion before President Eisenhower made any announcement; and finding out whether the reaction to the announcement might be good or sour.

In judging the program and what is and isn't in it, some memory is needed for statements Dulles has made over the past 13 months.

The President is expected to ask Congress shortly for:

1. Standby authority — consent beforehand — to use American armed forces if necessary to stop Soviet military aggression in the Middle East. This could be considered basically new for that area, although similar action respecting Formosa was taken two years ago.

2. Four hundred million dollars in aid for the Middle East, including Arab nations and Israel. Neither the idea nor the giving of aid for the Middle East is new, although the size talked of now is bigger than before.

Here are some dates that give the background:

On Nov. 29, 1955, Dulles told a news conference the United States "very distinctly" had the initiative in the Middle East, saying:

"I believe what we are doing in the way of foreign aid to the Middle East is of incomparably greater significance than these tentative proposals the Soviets are making."

(This was after the Russian leaders — Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Khrushchev — had visited Marshal Tito in Yugoslavia and Prime Minister Nehru in India and promised economic help to South Asia and the Middle East.)

But Dulles said this country was not going to be drawn into an attempt to match every offer of economic aid the Soviets may make to the Middle East or Asia.

Not long afterwards he must have started getting second thoughts. On Dec. 20, 1955, he made it known the administration wanted to step up its aid to the Middle East, although he said "we need not become panicky" because of Russia's promises.

This was less than two weeks before Congress came back to work with the amount of foreign aid, then as now, one of the problems before it.

On Jan. 5, 1956, in his State of the Union message to Congress, Eisenhower said he wanted to set up a foreign aid program including provisions to authorize some long-range projects for as long as 10 years.

Dulles followed this up Jan. 11 when, with Eisenhower's approval he called on the nation to "wake up" to all the implications facing the nation in this struggle by means of economic help, to keep the backward countries from turning to Russia.

Thus the country, which has to depend on Dulles and Eisenhower for the facts, had seen Dulles within a little more than a month shift from complacency to alarm about American progress with backward countries.

But on Feb. 25, 1956, Dulles was feeling better about Russia. He said its post-Stalin leaders were scrapping 30 years of Soviet policy based on violence and intolerance. Their previous policies had failed, he said.

Christmas Family Has Celebration

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — For the Christmas family of Glendale, New Year's Day was a merry day — more so, in fact, than Christmas.

Eli Christmas, retired railroader and his wife Frances were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary. They were married on New Year's Day, 1907, and the ceremony was performed — appropriately enough — in Santa Claus, Ind.

Bulldozer Ruins $18,000 House

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis today are looking for a place to live.

Monday a runaway driverless bulldozer crashed through their home and pulverized all objects.

Police said the 20-ton dozer, its gears jammed in reverse, cleared a small gully, climbed a hill, ripped down a fence and uprooted trees before crushing the wall of the frame house.

Police and Lewis estimated the damage at $18,000.

Nearly half of the foreign students in the United States come here on their family's funds. The remainder receive financial assistance from private organizations in the United States. About ten per cent receive aid from United States and foreign governments.

EX-CONVICT Charles F. Neeley (left) demonstrates to police how he allegedly shot and killed Walter Leopold, 66, former composer and pianist, who tried to stop a holdup in a Hollywood, Calif., market by throwing a can at the thief. Detective Sgt. Charles Hancock takes the part of the slain man while clerk Vera Kaloostian shows how she was at the register when the slaying took place. In background is detective Lt. Charles Grumbly. (International Soundphoto) thoughts. On Dec. 20, 1955, he made it known the administration wanted to step up its aid to the Middle East, although he said "we need not become panicky" because of Russia's promises.

This was less than two weeks before Congress came back to work with the amount of foreign aid, then as now, one of the problems before it.

On Jan. 5, 1956, in his State of the Union message to Congress, Eisenhower said he wanted to set up a foreign aid program including provisions to authorize some long-range projects for as long as 10 years.

Dulles followed this up Jan. 11 when, with Eisenhower's approval he called on the nation to "wake up" to all the implications facing the nation in this struggle by means of economic help, to keep the backward countries from turning to Russia.

Thus the country, which has to depend on Dulles and Eisenhower for the facts, had seen Dulles within a little more than a month shift from complacency to alarm about American progress with backward countries.

But on Feb. 25, 1956, Dulles was feeling better about Russia. He said its post-Stalin leaders were scrapping 30 years of Soviet policy based on violence and intolerance. Their previous policies had failed, he said.

Christmas Family Has Celebration

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — For the Christmas family of Glendale, New Year's Day was a merry day — more so, in fact, than Christmas.

Eli Christmas, retired railroader and his wife Frances were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary. They were married on New Year's Day, 1907, and the ceremony was performed — appropriately enough — in Santa Claus, Ind.

Bulldozer Ruins $18,000 House

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis today are looking for a place to live.

Monday a runaway driverless bulldozer crashed through their home and pulverized all objects.

Police said the 20-ton dozer, its gears jammed in reverse, cleared a small gully, climbed a hill, ripped down a fence and uprooted trees before crushing the wall of the frame house.

Police and Lewis estimated the damage at $18,000.

Nearly half of the foreign students in the United States come here on their family's funds. The remainder receive financial assistance from private organizations in the United States. About ten per cent receive aid from United States and foreign governments.

U. S. Social Security Tax Higher Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—Social security taxes went up Tuesday for some 69½ million persons.

They also now apply for the first time to members of the armed services.

The rate for covered workers and their employers will rise from 2 per cent on each to 2½ per cent on each, or from a total of 4 per cent to 4½ per cent. This is estimated to apply to about 63 million persons over the course of the year, 1957.

For about 6½ million self-employed persons covered by old age and survivors insurance the rate goes up from 3 per cent to 3½ per cent.

The taxes apply on the first $4,200 of annual income.

The tax increase was voted by Congress to meet anticipated costs of the new program providing disability cash benefits at age 50 for qualified workers.

The 1956 changes passed by Congress also provide for cash benefits to women at age 62 for the first time; for benefits to disabled children of qualified retired or deceased workers, and extended social security coverage to members of the armed services.

Egypt Cancels British Treaty Covering Suez

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt has formally ended the 1954 treaty that gave Britain the right to station troops in the Suez Canal zone in the event of Soviet aggression in the Middle East.

A decree signed by President Nasser said the pact was broken "from the moment the British armed forces attacked Egypt."

In effect the treaty was written off when British and French planes bombed Egypt Oct. 31 in preparation for the invasion of the Suez Canal zone. The next day the Egyptian army seized the five big British supply bases maintained under the treaty, jailed their British civilian caretakers and confiscated the stores.

Nasser's action takes away the right of British troops to return in case of attack by an "outside power" (mutually understood to mean Russia) on Turkey or any of the Arab nations of the Middle East. Loss of the British bases at the strategic crossroads between East and West may be a heavy blow to Western defense planning. The pact had five years to run.

At the canal, work to clear the wrecks and debris blocking shipment of oil and other necessities from Asia to Western Europe finally got into full swing under U. N. auspices.

Two U. N.-chartered salvage vessels, the Italian tug Hercules and the Swedish ship Herakle, began clearing away wreckage at Kilometer 39 in the northern half of the waterway.

Hardwoods make up about 30 per cent of the lumber output in the United States.

Mrs. Coppes Dies In Dayton Home

Mrs. Rachael Eva Coppes, 84, a former resident of Washington C. H., died at 10 a. m. Monday in Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, about 18 hours after she had been admitted there Sunday afternoon.

She was found unconscious in her home, 44 High St., Dayton, by a daughter, Miss Geneva Lynch, who lives nearby. Miss Lynch had called police to break into the house when her mother did not answer her knock at the door.

Mrs. Coppes had suffered a stroke, but just when was uncertain. She was found about 4 p. m. Sunday, but food on the stove indicated she had been preparing a meal, probably Sunday dinner, when she was stricken.

She was born Rachael Brakefield in Greene County and had lived in Washington C. H. for a time during her first marriage.

Besides the daughter in Dayton, Mrs. Coppes is survived by another daughter in Urbana and two sons, one in Jamestown and one in Portsmouth. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Lena Hoppes Warner, of the Hoppes Rd. in Fayette County.

Services will be held in the Reisinger Funeral Home, Dayton, at 10 a. m. Thursday. Burial will be in the Jamestown Cemetery.

Mercury Drops To 11 Degrees

New Year's Day brought some of the coldest weather of the winter, with a minimum of 18 and maximum of 33 degrees.

The second day of the new year saw the mercury drop to 11 degrees above zero for the second coldest morning of the winter.

Tuesday was not only cold but there was considerable wind which made the early part of the day disagreeable. It was in sharp contrast to a year ago when the peak temperature was 50 degrees and the minimum 27.

A year ago today rainfall recorded was .72 of an inch.

Another cold night is looming with a possible minimum of 15 degrees, Thursday is expected to be somewhat warmer.

Rites Held Monday For Miss Kendall

Services were held at 2 p. m. Monday in the Church of Christ in Christian Union, Cynthiana, for Miss Frances Kendall, 74, retired school teacher, who died here Saturday.

The Rev. Arthur George officiated, and Mrs. Louise Merritt, Mrs. Virginia Blake and Mrs. Harry Leeth sang "Beyond the Sunset" and "Some Golden Daybreak", accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Walter Yoh.

Burial was in Cynthiana Cemetery by the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home here. Pallbearers were Paul Kendall, L. H. Fithian, Keith Colliflower, Walter Yoh, Leo Cox and Patrick O'Connor.

An early English law once required a man on horseback waving a red flag to ride ahead of steam trains.

Court Rules Dem Wins in Rhode Island

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Two months after the election, the turbulent fight for the Rhode Island governorship has been settled by a state supreme court ruling that Democrat Dennis J. Roberts won re-election for a fourth term.

The court's ruling that Roberts had defeated Republican Christopher del Sesto came three hours after the time originally set for the inauguration Tuesday.

Roberts was sworn in later after Del Sesto announced he would not appeal the court's decision.

The state's highest court threw out civilian absentee and shut-in ballots that had given Del Sesto a 427-vote margin after all votes had been counted.

Roberts led by 207 vote, in the count of ballots cast at the polling places.

When the absentee ballots put Del Sesto in the lead, Roberts brought action before the court that some ballots were mailed by absentees and shut-ins before the Nov. 6 election day.

"The court invalidated 4,994 absentee ballots. Three Democratic state representative candidates also were put into office by the court's decision. It said:

"The majority of the court has agreed that, even assuming by extreme liberality there was in existence a valid statute giving the board of elections the right to count absentee and shut-in votes, so-called, such statute cannot constitutionally and legally be extended to authorize such civilian absentee and shut-in voters to cast their ballots on any day than election day, Nov. 6."

Services Held For Mrs. Harper

Services for Mrs. Lucy Harper, 58, wife of Willard Harper, were held at 2 p. m. Monday in the Alvin G. Little Funeral Home, Jeffersonville, with the Rev. Robert Slocum, pastor of the Milledgeville Methodist Church, officiating. Mrs. Harper died Saturday.

Pallbearers were Russell and Roger Klontz, Robert Perkins, Robert Warnock, Thurman Warnock Jr. and James Spears Jr. Burial was in the Milledgeville Cemetery.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A visitor to Oklahoma City complained to police he was "taken for a ride" by a taxi-driver.

He said he took a taxi to a night club, then invited the driver to join him in a drink.

After they had finished drinking, the cab driver demanded $8.95. The driver claimed that was how much time had been run up on the meter while they were inside.

GE Confident But Delays Its Expansion

NEW YORK (AP)—General Electric Co. "has every confidence in 1957," but plans to hold expansion spending below the record 1956 pace to keep earnings up and conserve manpower, Lemuel R. Boulware, a vice-president, said today.

Boulware discussed the outlook of the nation's biggest electric manufacturing enterprise in an interview in the wake of three postponements of parts of GE's three-year $500 million expansion.

Within a week, GE postponed construction of a $4 million communications equipment plant near Gainesville, Fla., put off until at least mid-1957 an expansion of its laminated plastics plant at Coshocton, Ohio, and deferred construction of $5 million in buildings by its lamp division in a Cleveland suburb.

Boulware gave these reasons for the postponements:

1. To make "seasoned manpower"

Recordings Experience Big Boom

By WALTER LOWE
NEW YORK — Back on an August night in 1887, Thomas Alva Edison sat down in his cluttered laboratory and spoke a few slow words into a large horn. Then he flicked a switch and, as he cranked the handle of his machine again, the needle repeated its course over the foil cylinder.

"Mary had a little lamb, its fleece was white as snow."

The voice was barely audible over the scratchy surface, but it was there, and it could be repeated over and over again! Little did Edison suspect at the time that his tinkering was to grow into a giant.

From its humble beginnings, running an erratic course that was alternately aided and harmed by scientific advances, the phonograph record industry has grown into a multi-million dollar business that still is surging onward and upward.

At the end of the war, in 1945, the industry did a total business of $99 million. Last year, it hit a record $235 million and 1956 might well see it reach the $300 million mark.

MORE AMERICANS are cocking their ears to recorded music every year, it seems. In 1953, something like 183 million disks flowed like hot cakes over retail counters across the nation.

Last year, partly aided by the great new interest in high-fidelity music reproduction in both the popular and the classical fields, the trade rose to a phenomenal 219 million records, counting in the foreign labels sold here.

This year, according to all indications, should see a new high in the outpouring of platters — around 230 million. The graph, temporarily interrupted by the confusion created through the introduction of new speeds (33 1/2 rpm and 45 rpm) to rival the long standard 78 rpm, has been rising steadily.

SCIENCE, however, doesn't stand still and tape recordings at home already worry an industry that has barely recovered from the shock of converting not only to a new type of disk but also a different kind of phonograph.

Actually, neither tape nor an even slower record speed—16 2/3 rpm—is considered much of a threat for the immediate future. Tape still is mighty expensive, and the slower disks also have their definite disadvantages, one important one being loss in sound-reproduction quality.

"THIS INDUSTRY really is still in its infancy," commented a record company executive. "We don't know for sure what is ahead of us technically. We do know that America's musical appetite is a long way from being satisfied and is growing all the time."

Individual figures would bear him out. Rock 'n' roller Elvis Presley in 1956 is figured to net $450,000 from his record sales alone. A single one of his disks alone — Don't Be Cruel — has clicked with the nation's teenagers to the merry tune of over 3 million individual sales.

Yet Presley is a piker compared with such seasoned veterans as Bing Crosby, whose White Christmas platter has spun into a dizzy 10 million range.

Since joining the Decca records label, Crosby's voice has been responsible for 125 million sales. No fewer than 19 of his recordings have hit that magic one million-plus mark. In fact, those 19 songs multiplied into 42 million copies.

ON THE AVERAGE a sale of 300,000 units is considered good for a "single" and one million disks a hit. With the long-playing records, sales of 50,000 to 60,000 lifts them into a best-selling category.

The record business is one of the prime "risk" businesses in the entertainment field. No one can predict accurately what recording might or might not catch on. The battle of the labels is fierce and the public's preferences are fickle.

THIS YEAR, according to the disk jockeys, Presley was the most popular recording star, with Perry Como ranking second, and young Pat Boone third. Last year, Frank Sinatra topped the list (he's in 10th place in 1956).

The most popular female artists this year — Kay Starr, Gale Storm, Patti Page and Doris Day—weren't even among the top 10 in 1955.

Making records, now that the LPs and extended-play disks have pushed the old 78s from the market, is becoming more and more of an intricate science.

The "stamper," taken from the original master (which in turn has been recorded from tape), and from which the records are actually pressed, are inspected over and over again to cut faulty copies to a minimum. Every day, new methods of recording—aimed at achieving higher fidelity—are devised.

IT'S a long, long way from the days when a singer or an orchestra might face the crude microphone in some dingy hall. The worry then wasn't about acoustics but rather over whether the number could be recorded on the wax.

Records today cover a vast range of subject matter, from bar-room piano to symphony orchestras and from hi-fi jazz to the spoken word.

The selection is at times bewildering. However, the "good old days" aren't yet forgotten. Some of the scratchy classics are being snapped up by eager collectors.

So you might look through the attic for the dusty old disks that might be stacked there. If you're lucky, you might collect an unexpected $100 to $150. Not a bad price for a scratchy souvenir of yesteryear.

350,000 Aliens Admitted to U. S.

WASHINGTON — Immigration Commissioner Joseph M. Swing said today more than 350,000 immigrants were admitted to the United States during 1956, the largest number since 1925.

In a year-end report, Swing noted the total admissions had been swelled by some 21,500 Hungarian refugees in the closing weeks of the year.

The commissioner said the long-standing problem of "wetbacks," illegal entrants from Mexico, had been virtually eliminated by a drive during the last two years.

The report noted that 145,000 aliens were naturalized during the year, and that 45,000 minors obtained citizenship through the naturalization of their parents.

Khrushchev Changes Tune, Has Kind Words for Stalin

MOSCOW — Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev has backtracked on his denunciation of Stalin.

Remarks by the party chief at the Kremlin New Year's Eve party were interpreted as further indication of tough measures to combat moves by the satellites toward independence from Moscow as well as an effort by Khrushchev to bolster his own position.

Asian diplomats reported that Khrushchev, in giving a toast at the party, said:

"Stalin was a great fighter against imperialism. He was a great Marxist. The imperialists call us Stalinists. Well, when it comes to fighting imperialists, we are all Stalinists."

This appeared directed particularly at the satellites, since the Kremlin has charged repeatedly that the Hungarian rebellion was a Fascist plot fomented by "Western imperialists." Khrushchev seemed to be promising that any such future outbreaks would be met with the same military crackdown which Stalin would have used and which finally prevailed in Hungary.

speech at the Communist Party Congress last February, Khrushchev was quoted as telling the Kremlin partygoers, "Men of action make mistakes and Stalin has done so much good that one must overlook his mistakes."

One Asian diplomat reported the party boss also said, "Stalin made mistakes, but we should share responsibility for these mistakes because we were associated with him."

The official line since Khrushchev's February speech had been that Stalin's mistakes in his latter years outweighed his achievements, and that the present Kremlin command could not be blamed for those mistakes because Stalin acted without consulting them.

Khrushchev's latest remarks lauding his former chief followed the line laid down last week in a lengthy statement by the Chinese Communist Politburo.

An editorial on this from the Peiping People's Daily was widely reprinted in the Soviet press.

Western diplomats generally boycotted the Kremlin reception, but several neutral non-Asians confirmed the gist of what Khrushchev said.

General Facing Pair of Lawsuits

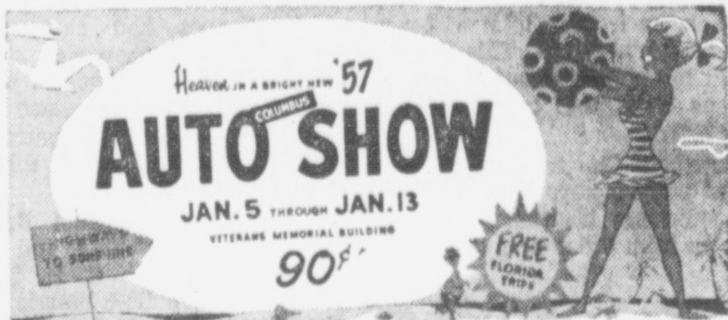

SAN ANTONIO — Two suits brought against Brig. Gen. John W. Persons, commander of Randolph Air Force Base, by a former lieutenant are scheduled for trial here, today.

The suits were filed last August by William Recht Jr. of Woodmere, Long Island, N. Y., an assistant in the judge advocate office at Randolph. He was discharged Aug. 27.

The first suit asks repayment of $250,000 allegedly collected from some 1,000 bachelor officers at Randolph for porter and maid service from 1950 to 1956.

The second suit, for $10,000, charges Recht was falsely imprisoned to prevent him from filing a criminal complaint against Gen. Persons for conducting a raffle at the base.

THE OHIO BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

All in all, 1956 was a very good year and we plan to make 1957 even better. Ohio Bell serves a state that is growing faster and is more prosperous than the nation as a whole. With a higher standard of living, the demand for good communications service increases every day. For 1957 we have planned a record-breaking program of $87,000,000 to keep step with the unprecedented progress of the territory we serve and will continue to do our utmost to provide the very best in telephone service for our customers.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

A flock of wild geese, estimated to number upward of 500, was seen flying about over Rattlesnake Creek in the Glendon area, around noon Saturday.

William Markley, carrier on Rural Route 3 out of Washington C. H., saw the huge flock of geese, which apparently was seeking to alight and feed.

They made two or three dips down near the earth, each time flying upward as if uncertain whether to alight, and were still in the air when Markley saw them last.

Whether the huge flock was headed southward or going back north, no one was able to tell.

As the geese migrated southward last fall, it is believed the flock might have been returning northward, presaging an open winter.

CORDUROY ROADS

Based on reports I picked up many years ago, we are still riding over corduroy roads in Fayette County, and are not aware of the fact.

When early residents sought to lift themselves out of the mud, and before they were aware of the huge deposits of gravel throughout the county, they utilized timber to bridge some of the swampy areas where the primitive roads ran through the woods.

Some sizeable logs were placed across the roads, sinking into the mud, and split timbers were placed between the logs to smooth the surface as much as possible. Sometimes poles alone were used to surface the "mud" roads.

In this way vehicles as well as horses and pedestrians were able to negotiate the swamp areas without sinking knee-deep (or hub deep) in the mud.

It was a great many years before roads were graded and something like adequate drainage provided.

As roads were improved, the logs, or "corduroy" construction, was covered over with earth and as years passed, presence of the logs was no longer recalled. Thus, many of the logs still remain deep below the present surface of the roads, according to some of the old timers.

W. Market St. at one time had some corduroy construction, and many years ago when a sewer was being dug in that street, some of the old logs were found several feet below the surface. That in itself is proof that we are still riding over corduroy roads and are not aware of it.

LANDSCAPE IDENTIFIED

When Archibald M. Willard painted the murals in the Fayette County Courthouse 72 years ago, he painted his home city, Cleveland, and its surrounding area in the mural on the east walls of the corridor.

Identification was made Friday by Stanley Whiteside, teacher in the high school at Euclid High School, Cleveland, and chairman of its social studies department. Whiteside is a native of Fayette County, and is here for a visit with relatives during the holidays. He dropped into the Courthouse to take a look at the murals under the flood lights.

I had a visit with him while we looked at the paintings, and as soon as he saw the mural on the east wall, known as the "Spirit of the U. S. Mail", he immediately pointed out that the figure is hovering over the landscape of the Cleveland area as it was when the mural was painted.

Shown in the mural is the Cuyahoga River, with the famous bend in it, near where the Republic Iron and Steel Works is now located. There are a few sailing vessels in the harbor, the city of Cleveland shown in the distance, and a lighthouse stands at the edge of Lake Erie, where the Cuyahoga River empties into the lake.

The figure in the picture is the one holding a letter on which appears "A. M. Will. . . Cleveland, O.", the last part of Willard's name being blotted out by the fingers of the figure.

POSTAL RECEIPTS UP

A big gain in postal receipts at the Washington C. H. Post Office has been announced by Postmaster Clark Wickensimer.

The figures reflect a gain of $15,477 for the past year over those of 1955.

In 1955 receipts were $146,999 while the past year the total was $162,376.

In 1941 receipts at the local office were only $51,625, or $110,751 less than the 1956 total, which indicates the big increase in business at the office within a comparatively short period of years.

Twenty-five years ago receipts were under $40,000, and the office still had second class status.

FISH TIDE DROUGHT

The past year was one during which the fish in Fayette County streams survived the drought period during the last summer and fall, coming through practically unscathed.

In some recent years, when stream beds were dry for most of their length, fish perished by the tens of thousands, not even the minnows escaping in most of them.

As a result of a series of droughts over a period of 25 years, fish life in the waters of local streams sustained tremendous losses, and it

Jock Whitney's Wife in Surgery

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. John Hay Whitney, whose husband soon will become American Ambassador to Britain, was reported in "very satisfactory" condition today following an operation last Friday for stomach ulcers. New York Hospital said Mrs. Whitney, 47, entered the hospital for a check-up, returned home for Christmas, then re-entered after the holiday for the operation. She is the former Betsey Cushing.

An Inside Job

BALTIMORE (AP)—Central District police figured it must be an inside job.

Mrs. Charlotte Meyers of New York City reported $60 stolen from her hotel room. Her son, Samuel, who had seen the thief, gave police the description:

About 30 years old, six feet tall and dressed only in maroon pajama pants.

CONSTIPATED?

new laxative discovery
un-locks bowel blocks
without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H and stimulate it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONAD, the amazing new laxative discovery is so effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAD neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT! Exercise tones your body! And COLONAD exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONAD, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

A flock of wild geese, estimated to number upward of 500, was seen flying about over Rattlesnake Creek in the Glendon area, around noon Saturday.

William Markley, carrier on Rural Route 3 out of Washington C. H., saw the huge flock of geese, which apparently was seeking to alight and feed.

They made two or three dips down near the earth, each time flying upward as if uncertain whether to alight, and were still in the air when Markley saw them last.

Whether the huge flock was headed southward or going back north, no one was able to tell.

As the geese migrated southward last fall, it is believed the flock might have been returning northward, presaging an open winter.

CORDUROY ROADS

Based on reports I picked up many years ago, we are still riding over corduroy roads in Fayette County, and are not aware of the fact.

When early residents sought to lift themselves out of the mud, and before they were aware of the huge deposits of gravel throughout the county, they utilized timber to bridge some of the swampy areas where the primitive roads ran through the woods.

Some sizeable logs were placed across the roads, sinking into the mud, and split timbers were placed between the logs to smooth the surface as much as possible. Sometimes poles alone were used to surface the "mud" roads.

In this way vehicles as well as horses and pedestrians were able to negotiate the swamp areas without sinking knee-deep (or hub deep) in the mud.

It was a great many years before roads were graded and something like adequate drainage provided.

As roads were improved, the logs, or "corduroy" construction, was covered over with earth and as years passed, presence of the logs was no longer recalled. Thus, many of the logs still remain deep below the present surface of the roads, according to some of the old timers.

W. Market St. at one time had some corduroy construction, and many years ago when a sewer was being dug in that street, some of the old logs were found several feet below the surface. That in itself is proof that we are still riding ing over corduroy roads and are not aware of it.

LANDSCAPE IDENTIFIED

When Archibald M. Willard painted the murals in the Fayette County Courthouse 72 years ago, he painted his home city, Cleveland, and its surrounding area in the mural on the east walls of the corridor.

Identification was made Friday by Stanley Whiteside, teacher in the high school at Euclid High School, Cleveland, and chairman of its social studies department. Whiteside is a native of Fayette County, and is here for a visit with relatives during the holidays. He dropped into the Courthouse to take a look at the murals under the flood lights.

I had a visit with him while we looked at the paintings, and as soon as he saw the mural on the east wall, known as the "Spirit of the U. S. Mail", he immediately pointed out that the figure is hovering over the landscape of the Cleveland area as it was when the mural was painted.

Shown in the mural is the Cuyahoga River, with the famous bend in it, near where the Republic Iron and Steel Works is now located. There are a few sailing vessels in the harbor, the city of Cleveland shown in the distance, and a lighthouse stands at the edge of Lake Erie, where the Cuyahoga River empties into the lake.

The figure in the picture is the one holding a letter on which appears "A. M. Will. . . Cleveland, O.", the last part of Willard's name being blotted out by the fingers of the figure.

POSTAL RECEIPTS UP

A big gain in postal receipts at the Washington C. H. Post Office has been announced by Postmaster Clark Wickensimer.

The figures reflect a gain of $15,477 for the past year over those of 1955.

In 1955 receipts were $146,999 while the past year the total was $162,376.

In 1941 receipts at the local office were only $51,625, or $110,751 less than the 1956 total, which indicates the big increase in business at the office within a comparatively short period of years.

Twenty-five years ago receipts were under $40,000, and the office still had second class status.

FISH TIDE DROUGHT

The past year was one during which the fish in Fayette County streams survived the drought period during the last summer and fall, coming through practically unscathed.

In some recent years, when stream beds were dry for most of their length, fish perished by the tens of thousands, not even the minnows escaping in most of them.

As result of a series of droughts over a period of 25 years, fish life in the waters of local streams sustained tremendous losses, and it will be years before fishing will be anything like it used to be. At the present time all streams of the county are showing a fairly good flow, due to considerable precipitation in December.

Jock Whitney's Wife in Surgery

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. John Hay Whitney, whose husband soon will become American Ambassador to Britain, was reported in "very satisfactory" condition today following an operation last Friday for stomach ulcers. New York Hospital said Mrs. Whitney, 47, entered the hospital for a check-up, returned home for Christmas, then re-entered after the holiday for the operation. She is the former Betsy Cushing.

An Inside Job

BALTIMORE (AP)—Central District police figured it must be an inside job.

Mrs. Charlotte Meyers of New York City reported $60 stolen from her hotel room. Her son, Samuel, who had seen the thief, gave police the description:

About 30 years old, six feet tall and dressed only in maroon pajama pants.

Experts Pick Fullmer To Trip Robinson

Middleweight Title Goes on Block in New York Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, the still dazzling but aging middleweight champion, makes the second defense of his third reign tonight as an underdog to Gene Fullmer, strong, willing, 25-year old challenger from West Jordan, Utah.

Overnight backing for the sleek, 36-year old titleholder dropped the odds from 8-5 to 13-10 and it even could be closer by the time they step into the Madison Square Garden ring for their once-postponed 15-rounder.

The scrap will be broadcast and telecast coast to coast by ABC at 10 p. m. EST.

The New York-Philadelphia area will be blacked out.

Win or lose, Robinson will get 7 1/2 per cent of the gate and $60,000 from the air receipts. Fullmer, desperate to get the crack at Robinson, agreed to take only 12 1/2 of the gate and nothing from the radio-TV purse. Robinson in all will collect about $120,000 and Fullmer $16,000.

"That's okay with me," said Fullmer. "I want that title."

Two sensational workouts over the weekend brought the late support for the Harlem dandy. Robinson displayed his old-time power, fast combinations and pinpoint accuracy with his right hand. He was quick to take advantage of his sparmates' mistakes.

"That's where Ray is best," commented Joe Louis after watching his buddy wind up his training. "He's quick to take advantage of a mistake and Fullmer makes plenty. Gene is strong and has to stay on top of Ray if he wants to win. But he tends to get wild and you can't do that often against Ray. Once is enough in most cases. I've got to pick Ray because of that."

A majority of the experts, however, lean to the thick-necked, muscular-armed, iron-jawed challenger because of his youth, vigor and drive. He never has been stopped in 40 pro bouts (37-3) and is a dedicated, superbly conditioned fighter with a zest for the sport. The general opinion is that Robinson must take out Fullmer within five rounds to win.

Colorado Tops Clemson in Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—"I'd rather have won one like this, than to win 50 to 0," chortled coach Dallas Ward after his Colorado Buffaloes snuffed out Clemson's last-gasp threat and wrapped up a 27-21 Orange Bowl football victory.

Ward referred to the seesaw battle that developed in the second half of Tuesday's grid classic after Colorado had threatened to turn it into a rout in the first two periods.

And to the losing coach, Frank Howard, must go the credit for giving the audience a storybook thriller instead of a cakewalk.

Howard was disgusted with his Tigers when they stumbled off the field at halftime, trailing the Buffs 20-0 and he told them so.

"I told 'em if they didn't get in the end zone, I was gonna resign," Howard said around a big cud of chewing tobacco.

Howard must have gotten through to his boys. They came back and clawed out two touchdowns in the third period and one early in the fourth for a temporary 21-20 lead.

Then quarterback Charlie Bussey made a call which may have cost Clemson the game. Earlier, an inside kickoff had worked—Clemson recovered it—and Bussey decided to try it again. The gamble backfired.

Colorado covered the short kickoff at the Buff 47 and John Bayuk, the 217-pound fullback, scored the winning touchdown.

College Ratings

NEW YORK (AP)—In a week when basketball tournaments were sprouting everywhere, Kansas, North Carolina and Kentucky maintained their 1-2-3 rankings in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Kansas, proving it could win even when Wilt Chamberlain was contained, took the Big Seven Tournament; North Carolina, with Lonnie Rosenbluth leading the way, won the Dixie Classic; and Kentucky went on from a victory in its own invitation tournament to win the Sugar Bowl tourney.

Iowa Maintains Big Ten's Superiority in Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Big Ten mastery over the Pacific Coast Conference in the Rose Bowl remained intact today, with Iowa's triumph over Oregon State, 35-19, before 97,126 New Year day fans.

The Hawkeyes outclassed the Beavers by land and by air to make it 10 Big Ten victories to a lone PCC win since the inter-conference series began in 1947.

Southern California's 7-0 win over Wisconsin in 1953 was the only coast conference solace.

Iowa quarterback Ken Ploen was voted the outstanding player in Tuesday's game, and well did he deserve it. The husky senior from Clinton, Iowa, produced a brilliant 49-yard touchdown run and passed 16 yards to end Jim

5 Area Games On Tap for This Weekend

Area basketball fans will have four games to hold their interest Friday and another Saturday night.

Now that the Christmas holidays have come to an end, the hardwood sport will be resumed in earnest. Most of the teams have 18 games on their schedules and had played eight or 10 of them before schools closed for the holidays.

Although there have been no classes to attend, the cagers have not been taking a complete vacation. They have been following a pretty regular schedule of practices. There have been some games, but with the exception of the one played by the Washington C. H. High School Lions, they have not been regular interschool games.

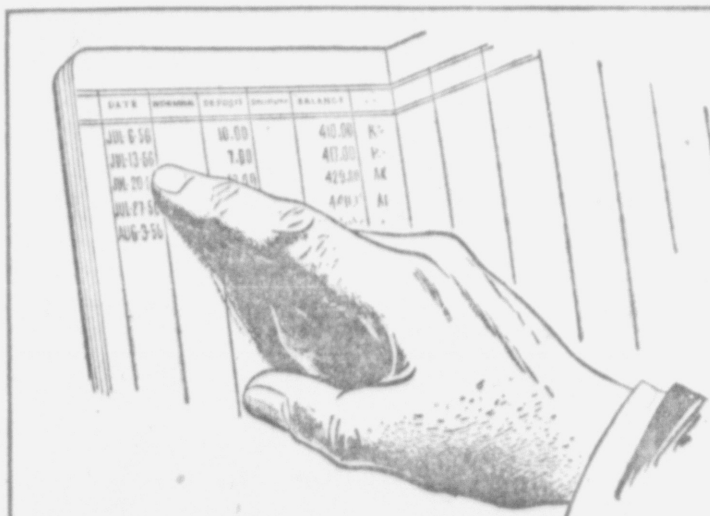

Madison Mills' Warriors played a team of alumni and the Jeffersonville Tigers played in the Greeneview (Greene County) holiday basketball festival.

The Lions played at Dayton Chaminade Dec. 27.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S games will be: Jeffersonville at Madison Mills in a Fayette County League game; Good Hope at Darby in Pickaway County;

Williamsport at New Holland in a Pickaway County League game; Washington C. H. at Greenfield in the last game of the first round of the home-and-home South Central Ohio League.

Saturday night Bloomingburg's Bulldogs will entertain Jackson Township of Pickaway County.

Baylor's Win Is Chilled by Field Squabble

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Baylor coach Sam Boyd, his 13-7 Sugar Bowl victory over Tennessee damped by an unfortunate player squabble warned the Southwest Conference today his Bears were the team to beat for the title next fall.

The sweetness of victory was bittered, since fullback Larry Hickman was ejected from the game for kicking Tennessee guard Bruce Burnham in the face during a third quarter hassle.

The injury sent Burnham to the hospital where he was treated for a slight concussion and facial lacerations. Hospital spokesmen said he was scheduled for release today "barring complications."

Burnham would have also been ejected from the game since it was his personal foul which touched off the melee.

Boyd sadly admitted that the triumph "was the first game I've ever won I can't be happy about." He was at a loss to explain Hickman's action and added he believed "the boy himself probably doesn't know why he did it."

Tennessee coach Bowden Wyatt offered no excuses, but rather he contended his Vols "played a great game. We just made too many mistakes."

The setback continued Tennessee's jinx in the Sugar Bowl. It marked the Volunteers third setback against one victory in the New Orleans New Year extravaganza. The game marked Baylor's debut in the Sugar Bowl.

Smith Sparkles In Sugar Bowl

There was hardly a television set in this community that was not tuned in on the Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans New Year's Day. The reason: Carl Smith, a former star halfback of the WHS Lion football team in 1951 and 1952, was playing with Tennessee's Volunteers against the Baylor Bears.

Although Tennessee lost, 13-7, local fans were not disappointed in what they saw. Smith, a sophomore playing his first year with the Volunteers, made only one long gain from his fullback post in the single wing, but he threw many a vicious and permanent block for All-American tailback Johnny Majors and Bobby Gordon, his alternate. They also saw him sparkle on defense with one jolting tackle after another.

Smith played about half of the game as alternate for fullback Tommy Bronson.

While television brought the game into scores of living rooms and to armchair fans, at least three Washington C. H. fans went to New Orleans to see it in person. Rex Wickensimer and Jim Shoemaker drove down and Fred Rost went by plane.

gap between the first-place Celtics and second-place Philadelphia.

In other NBA action, Rochester boosted its western division lead to a game, defeating St. Louis 102-101. And some of the Boston magic, in the person of ex-Celtic Togo Palazzi, produced a 106-102 victory for Syracuse over the New York Knickerbockers.

Farmer's Sawdust Pile Yields 150 Copperheads

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Farmer Lawrence Barbour dug into a pile of sawdust and spotted a copperhead snake. Then he spotted another. And another. And still more.

He called his wife and before the afternoon was over they had killed 150 copperheads ranging from 16 to 18 inches long.

Cotton Bowl Is Tight Duel All the Way

DALLAS (AP)—Chuck Curtis' tremendous passing, Jim Brown's mighty running, clutch extra points by Harold Pollard and a block by Chico Mendoza added up to one of the finest Cotton Bowl games Tuesday as Texas Christian beat Syracuse 28-27.

The Horned Frogs were breaking a bowl drought that extended to five games, gaining vengeance for a 1-point loss to Mississippi in the Cotton Bowl last year and vindicating themselves from the tag of "second rate" team.

Curtis, the Texas Christian quarterback, passed for 174 yards, completing 12 of 15 throws, had two scoring shots, ran for a touchdown and set up the fourth in leading the Frogs to probably the most needed triumph in their football history. Curtis was passing into defeat the team that had led the nation in pass-interceptions.

Pollard planted four conversions through the crossbars without the ball even wavering.

Brown, the 222-pound Syracuse halfback who was All-America during the regular season and the same in the Cotton Bowl, put on the greatest exhibition of carrying a football through sheer power that the big saucer ever saw.

The massive Negro star, slashed through and around the Texas Christian line for three touchdowns and kicked three extra points—only to see Mendoza's block of one of his conversion efforts prove to be a decisive point in the rip-roaring offensive game.

In the smaller bowl games Tuesday, Prairie View upended Texas Southern, 27-6, in the Prairie View Bowl in Houston; George Washington shut out Texas Western, 13-0, in the Sun Bowl in El Paso, and West Texas triumphed over Mississippi Southern, 20-13, in the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Fla.

The West Texas victory was sparked by Ron Mills who ran an intercepted pass 75 yards for a touchdown and plunged two yards for another.

In the 22nd annual Sun Bowl game, George Washington's Colonials effectively hemmed in speedy Texas Western College backs to record their upset victory.

Buckeye Cagers Trip Princeton

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State chalked up an 84-77 victory over Princeton's Ivy League Tigers Tuesday night with the help of 6-6 forward Frank Howard who scored eight field goals and led the Buckeyes with 22 points.

Howard, who set a rebounding record in last weekend's Holiday Festival in New York, repeated his handiwork by grabbing 21 of the backboards and consistently feeding the ball to teammates driving past him for scores.

Also shooting in double figures for the Bucks were Jim Laughlin with 18, Gene Millard with 17 and Larry Huston with 16. Princeton's 6-6 center, Dave Culcomer, led the Tigers with 19.

Algerians Study Relations Between U. S., Puerto Rico

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—The "commonwealth" relationship between the people of Puerto Rico (who are U. S. citizens) and the United States is so different and satisfying that a delegation from Algeria is here asking Gov. Luis Munoz - Marin, "How does it work? Would it work in troubled Algeria?"

The situation isn't exactly parallel. The people of Algeria are legally French, not Algerian, citizens, but the demand in North Africa is strong for full independence. Only 10 per cent, described as rich colonists, want to keep the status quo.

This is not the case here in Puerto Rico, where the recent election kept Governor Munoz in power by an overwhelming margin against two candidates, both advocating independence.

The great majority of the people still are embarrassed by the nationalist fanatics, a few of whom invaded the U. S. House of Representatives and shot four members a few years ago.

THIS "new pattern of political freedom" works well for both the United States and Puerto Rico. For some 37 years Puerto Ricans have been U. S. citizens, and they like the privilege and the prestige attached.

From an under-developed country of near - starving people, today there is a higher standard of living, although not up to state-side level. "Operation Bootstrap," a sort of expanded Point Four project, has helped.

Just as proud about the bettering health conditions is the governor, who said in an interview that "life expectancy has risen from 42 years in 1930 to 64 years today."

Puerto Ricans pay no federal taxes, but neither can they vote in the U. S. Congress. A great break for this Spanish - speaking country is the free market in the U. S. However, the governor adds quickly, "We are the fifth best buyer of U. S. goods, and the biggest per capita."

THE GOVERNOR doesn't like to be reminded of the millions of U. S. dollars which have been poured into his country, estimated to be close to $150 million a year. Quite properly he says that many of these millions are "spent, not poured" into Puerto Rico for the maintenance of our Army, Navy and Air Force installations, and "that's an expenditure which would have to be made in any place where defense strategy required it."

Is the commonwealth status far enough away from colonialism? ask the Algerians. "Yes," is the governor's firm answer, adding, "Puerto Rico's big contribution to the United States is in understanding, and providing a showcase for a fine relationship between the United States and people of a different cultural origin, in a close bond of common citizenship and in terms of democracy."

Gunman's Holster Snags on Fence

CINCINNATI (AP)—The gun holster of a fleeing burglar snagged on an iron fence Monday night, and held him fast until police captured him.

Police said the captured burglar, under questioning, gave the name of a two-gun tugging companion. The guns turned out to be Christmas present cap pistols.

And the two burglars were eight years old. The "oot": two writing tablets from a junior high school.

The American saddle horse became a recognized breed with the organization of the American Saddle Horse Breeders' Assn. in Louisville, Ky., in 1891.

Experts Pick Fullmer To Trip Robinson

Middleweight Title Goes on Block in New York Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, the still dazzling but aging middleweight champion, makes the second defense of his third reign tonight as an underdog to Gene Fullmer, strong, willing, 25-year old challenger from West Jordan, Utah.

Overnight backing for the sleek, 36-year-old titleholder dropped the odds from 8-5 to 13-10 and it even could be closer by the time they step into the Madison Square Garden ring for their once-postponed 15-rounder.

The scrap will be broadcast and telecast coast to coast by ABC at 10 p. m. EST.

The New York-Philadelphia area will be blacked out.

Win or lose, Robinson will get 7 1/2 per cent of the gate and $60,000 from the air receipts. Fullmer, desperate to get the crack at Robinson, agreed to take only 12 1/2 of the gate and nothing from the radio-TV purse. Robinson in all will collect about $120,000 and Fullmer $16,000.

"That's okay with me," said Fullmer. "I want that title."

Two sensational workouts over the weekend brought the late support for the Harlem dandy. Robinson displayed his old-time power, fast combinations and pinpoint accuracy with his right hand. He was quick to take advantage of his sparmates' mistakes.

"That's where Ray is best," commented Joe Louis after watching his buddy wind up his training. "He's quick to take advantage of a mistake and Fullmer makes plenty. Gene is strong and has to stay on top of Ray if he wants to win. But he tends to get wild and you can't do that often against Ray. Once is enough in most cases. I've got to pick Ray because of that."

A majority of the experts, however, lean to the thick-necked, muscular-armed, iron-jawed challenger because of his youth, vigor and drive. He never has been stopped in 40 pro bouts (37-3) and is a dedicated, superbly conditioned fighter with a zest for the sport. The general opinion is that Robinson must take out Fullmer within five rounds to win.

Colorado Tops Clemson in Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—"I'd rather have won one like this, than to win 50 to 0," chortled coach Dallas Ward after his Colorado Buffaloes snuffed out Clemson's last-gasp threat and wrapped up a 27-21 Orange Bowl football victory. Ward referred to the seesaw battle that developed in the second half of Tuesday's grid classic after Colorado had threatened to turn it into a rout in the first two periods.

And to the losing coach, Frank Howard, must go the credit for giving the audience a storybook thriller instead of a cakewalk.

Howard was disgusted with his Tigers when they stumbled off the field at halftime, trailing the Buffs 20-0 and he told them so. "I told 'em if they didn't get in the end zone, I was gonna resign," Howard said around a big cud of chewing tobacco.

Howard must have gotten through to his boys. They came back and clawed out two touchdowns in the third period and one early in the fourth for a temporary 21-20 lead.

Then quarterback Charlie Bussey made a call which may have cost Clemson the game. Earlier, an inside kickoff had worked—Clemson recovered it—and Bussey decided to try it again. The gamble backfired.

Colorado covered the short kickoff at the Buff 47 and John Bayuk, the 217-pound fullback, scored the winning touchdown.

College Ratings

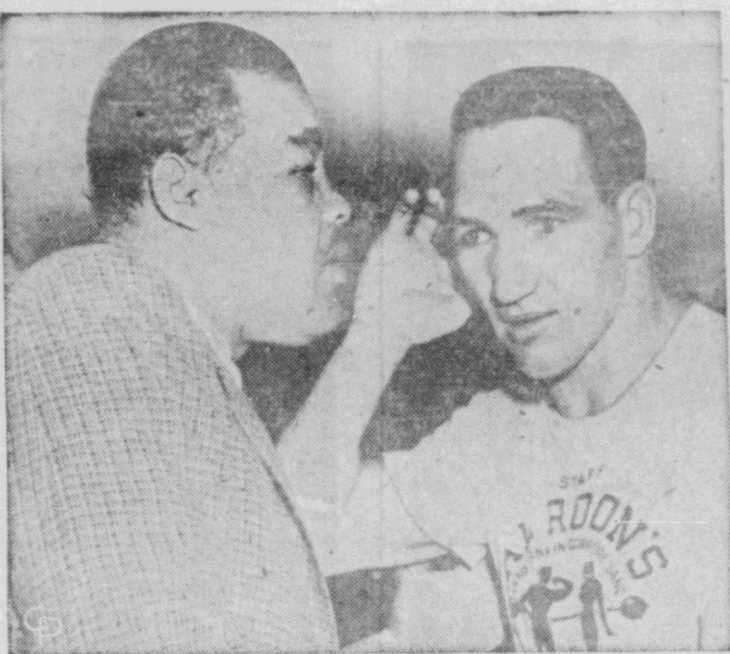

NEW YORK (AP)—In a week when basketball tournaments were sprouting everywhere, Kansas, North Carolina and Kentucky maintained their 1-2-3 rankings in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Kansas, proving it could win even when Wilt Chamberlain was contained, took the Big Seven Tournament; North Carolina, with Lonnie Rosenbluth leading the way, won the Dixie Classic; and Kentucky went on from a victory in its own invitation tournament to win the Sugar Bowl tournament.

Iowa Maintains Big Ten's Superiority in Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Big Ten mastery over the Pacific Coast Conference in the Rose Bowl remained intact today, with Iowa's triumph over Oregon State, 35-19, before 97,126 New Year day fans.

The Hawkeyes outclassed the Beavers by land and by air to make it 10 Big Ten victories to a lone PCC win since the inter-conference series began in 1947.

Southern California's 7-0 win over Wisconsin in 1953 was the only coast conference solace.

Iowa quarterback Ken Ploen was voted the outstanding player in Tuesday's game, and well did he deserve it. The husky senior from Clinton, Iowa, produced a brilliant 49-yard touchdown run and passed 16 yards to end Jim

5 Area Games On Tap for This Weekend

Area basketball fans will have four games to hold their interest Friday and another Saturday night.

Now that the Christmas holidays have come to an end, the hardwood sport will be resumed in earnest. Most of the teams have 18 games on their schedules and had played eight or 10 of them before schools closed for the holidays.

Although there have been no classes to attend, the cagers have not been taking a complete vacation. They have been following a pretty regular schedule of practices. There have been some games, but with the exception of the one played by the Washington C. H. High School Lions, they have not been regular interschool games.

Madison Mills' Warriors played a team of alumni and the Jeffersonville Tigers played in the Greeneview (Greene County) holiday basketball festival.

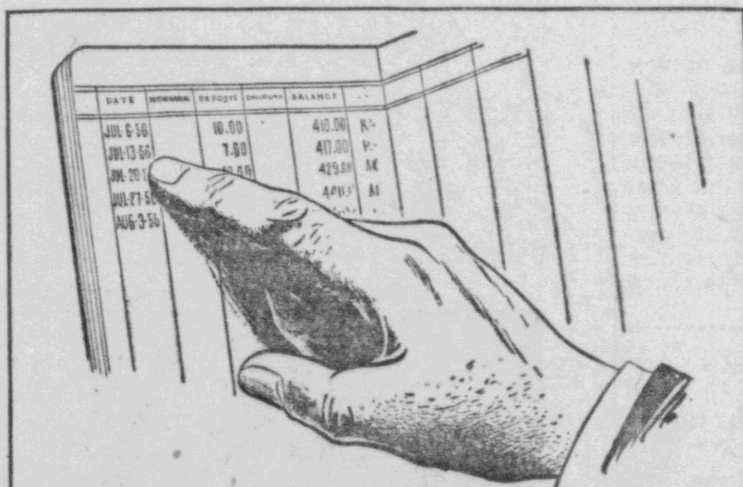

The Lions played at Dayton Chaminade Dec. 27.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S games will be: Jeffersonville at Madison Mills in a Fayette County League game; Good Hope at Darby in Pickaway County;

Williamsport at New Holland in a Pickaway County League game;

Washington C. H. at Greenfield in the last game of the first round of the home-and-home South Central Ohio League.

Saturday night Bloomingburg's Bulldogs will entertain Jackson Township of Pickaway County.

Shoeshines Come High in Alaska!

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Prices are high in Alaska, but a guy normally doesn't hand over $1.25 for a shoeshine.

Dale Webb did — and got the shine while standing in the snow at Fairbanks' busiest street intersection.

It all came about because of a drive to raise funds for a new YM-CA building.

Ed Hansen, his team captain, told
Webb that if he reported next week with $1,000 pledge for the campaign, he'd get a shoeshine at the corner of Second and Cushman.

Webb came through with pledges for $1,265. Hansen paid off his end of the bargain the next day.

Majority of County Officials To Begin New Terms Jan. 7

COUNTY OFFICIALS TAKE OATH OF OFFICE—Judge John P. Case swears in seven county officials who start new terms Monday. The mass swearing-in ceremony was held Monday afternoon in the commissioners' office in the courthouse. They are (left to right) Judge Case; Sheriff Orland Hays; Prosecutor Rollo Marchant; Engineer Charles Wagner; Mrs. Eloise Johnson, recorder; Mrs. Dorothy West, clerk of courts; Commissioner Robert Cockerill; Auditor Harry Allen (previously sworn in) and Commissioner Ralph Minton. Dr. N. M. Reiff was sworn in as coroner a few minutes after this picture was taken. Treasurer Charles A. Fabb's new term does not start until September. Judge Case, whose new term starts Feb. 9, was sworn in following this ceremony by Judge Robert Brubaker.

All but three of the 11 officials who will serve Fayette County in public office during the next few years were sworn in at a hurriedly arranged advance mass ceremony Monday afternoon at the courthouse. New terms for none of them start before Jan. 7.

Eight of them interrupted their daily work at 1:30 p. m. only long enough to take the oath of office in the county commissioners' room and then went back to the same old routine.

Eight of those sworn in were re-elected Nov. 6 and seven of them start their new terms next Monday. They are the two commissioners, Robert Cockerill and Ralph Minton; the recorder, Mrs. Eloise Johnson; clerk, Mrs. Dorothy West; the engineer, Charles Wagner; prosecutor, Rollo Marchant; coroner, Dr. N. M. Reiff, and Common Pleas Court Judge, John P. Case.

Marchant is the only new county official. He was elected for the first time to succeed Prosecutor John Bath, who did not seek re-election.

JUDGE CASE is the only one of those sworn in whose new term does not start next Monday. It does not start until Feb. 9.

Judge Case administered the oath of office to the commissioners, the clerk, recorder, sheriff, coroner and prosecutor. Immediately afterward, Judge Robert Brubaker of the Probate Court administered the oath to the judges.

istered the oath to him in the Common Pleas Court office on the second floor.

Judge Brubaker's term does not expire until Feb. 9, 1961.

Of the other two county officials elected Nov. 6, one, Auditor Harry Allen already has been sworn in, and the other, Treasurer Charles A. Fabb, does not start his new term until Sept. 9.

All of the county's new official family are Republicans and all but one were elected (or re-elected) without opposition. The exception is Sheriff Hays, who was returned to office with a deluge of votes. His Democratic opponent was Philip Tatman.

The other member of the board of county commissioners is Clifford Hughes. His term has two years to run.

AUDITOR ALLEN was sworn in early in November, because he had been elected to fill out the unexpired term of the late Ulric Acton. He was appointed auditor by the commissioners on Oct. 24, 1955, following the death of Acton, to serve until the next election, which was last Nov. 6.

Terms of all county officials, except the two judges, run for four years. Terms of the judges run six years.

Virgil Perrill, who was re-elected to represent Fayette County in the lower house of the state Legislature last Nov. 6, and Lowell Fess of Yellow Springs, who was re-elected to represent this district in the state Senate, are to be sworn in Monday, probably in the state capitol, when they start their new terms.

COUNTY OFFICIALS will get an increase in pay when they start their new terms. The salary raises were authorized by the Ohio Legislature June 23, 1955, and became effective on Oct. 11, 1955.

But, since salary increases cannot be given to public officials during the terms to which they were elected, Fayette County's re-elected officials will not get their pay raise until they start their new terms.

The new salary schedule, which

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The telephone company trouble shooter was puzzled after Mrs. J. R. Jones told him:

"We never leave the receiver off the hook. We never answer any ring on the party line but our own."

The telephone rang. Into the room bounded Lindy, the family's sheep dog. With a sweep of his paw, Lindy knocked the phone from its stand, the receiver flying to the end of the cord.

There's no more trouble — the phone is now out of Lindy's battering reach.

Frantic Red Uses Old Ad To Help Girl

CHICAGO (AP)—A magazine advertisement of 30 years ago has prompted a Soviet citizen to dispatch a frantic SOS to America for arch supports to buttress a girl friend's flat feet.

The letter, from V. K. Tishchenko of Moscow, was in slightly flawed English and took a circuitous route before reaching a manufacturing firm here.

It first went to the firm's London branch because, the letter explained, "I have read the address in the 'Strand Magazine' (a British publication) of 1926, June."

"Suppose that it is possible to do a mistake as 30 years have passed and the company could change its address. In such case I supplicate you to... write its address to me, you see?"

The Russian requested a booklet offered in the old advertisement "because I am very much interested in the method of correcting flat feet. Beside there are a girl I know well who have such feet and I should like to help her."

"It's of great importance to me," Tishchenko concluded. "In heaven's name do it, please."

Cork Bottles

DENVER (AP)—A two-inch blanket of cork was laid under a downtown Denver street to keep traffic noise out of the basement of a new hotel and department store.

After excavating under the street for the basement, workmen placed a new surface on one block of Court Place, between 15th and 16th Sts.

The cork was placed atop a concrete slab that makes up the ceiling of the fourth floor of the huge basement. Five layers of waterproofing were placed on the cork before a 10-inch concrete slab was poured to form the foundation for a two-inch asphalt street surface.

Sal Mineo Speaks Up, Defends Rock'n Roll

By SAL MINEO
(Central Press Association)
NEW YORK — Teen-age misdeeds and violence may be on the upswing, and the latest word may be that the V. D. rate of kids between 11 and 19 is zooming at a shocking rate—but nobody's going to convince Sal Mineo that rock 'n' roll music has much to do with it.

Sal's the 17-year-old Bronx boy who has skyrocketed to acting fame in the last couple of years, particularly with his skillful portrayals on television, like his impersonation of Saroyan as a youth. More to the point, these days he's almost an unofficial spokesman for an defender of R. and R.

"Look," he says doggedly, "maybe it's not the kind of music that older people like, although I know some who do. However, it's good, for what it is. It's got a definite beat — and when kids dance to it, they're releasing energy, that's all. I don't see what's to worry over that. If parents didn't know how their children were releasing their energy, then they would have something to worry about."

TO BOLSTER his argument, young Sal—who's already done a film called Rock Pretty Baby—says that his mother had admitted to him that when she was young, she danced to "virtually the same kind of thing," and her parents were against it, too. "They called it—what was that name again?—the Black Bottom or something like that," he declares.

Sal Mineo

"What's more, I've got a grandmother who's 66 and she thinks rock 'n' roll is the greatest thing in the world. I mean, she really flipped!"

Sal, who still lives in his native Bronx with his family, has been going to private school for several years now because of his busy career in show business, but he has kept tabs on former schoolmates in his neighborhood. A lot of them, he says, are rock 'n' roll addicts—but none has "gone wrong," so far as he knows.

"And I come from a pretty tough neighborhood," he adds. "I didn't realize it when I was a kid (Ed. note—when was that?), but I can see it now. One wrong move and you can be in a mess. However, some of the other kids still come and visit me, and they all seem to be seriously heading for one profession or another."

THE TALENTED YOUTH has no gripes about having mislaid his childhood because of having worked since he was 11.

"I'm still enjoying it," he says. "Gee, some summer days I just spend eight hours swimming, and like that. I think I was lucky to have worked at such an early age; I learned to trust my own judgment and I learned the value of a dollar."

Sal has just finished another film, The Young Don't Cry, which was made on location in Savannah, Ga., and during its shooting, he became pretty accomplished as a drummer. At night, to live up the long, quiet nights in Savannah, he and his clarinet playing brother and four or five other amateur musicians used to play rock 'n' roll at its wildest.

"Man," he says thoughtfully, "but we really tore that Savannah apart."
